IS DEMOCRATIC DARK HORSE AT WHITE HOUSE?

Railbirds Differ on Wilson Workouts.

By ARTHUR SEARS HENNING.

While the political breeze was waiting for more straws indicating President Wilson is willing to run a third term in the White House, United States Senator Carter Glass of Virginia, fresh from a forty minute conference with the president Saturday afternoon, passed through Chicago last night bearing the Wilson platform to San Francisco.

Senator Glass, who is slated for chairman of the resolutions committee, returned from the president's draft of the league of nations and other planks in the Democratic national convention will be asked to incorporate in the platform. With the president's parting instructions as to the attitude Mr. Wilson desires all friends of the administration to take on party issues, Senator Glass goes to the convention as spokesman for the White House on all platform questions at least.

Writes League Plank.

The Wilson platform presents the peace treaty as the paramount issue of the presidential election and contains a league of nations plank of the president's endorsement denouncing "reservations which would impair the essential integrity" of the covenant. The president's platform contains no "wet" plank, no Irish independence plank, and no plank favoring a soldiers' vote.

If Mr. Wilson confided his attitude toward the nomination to Mr. Glass, the senator is keeping the secret. He admitted last night that he had discussed with Mr. Wilson, but denied that he had touched on the question of a soldiers' vote, or as much as it was as one concerning the nomination.

McAdoo Definitely Out.

Senator Glass was accompanied by Assistant Secretary of the Treasury William C. McAdoo, one of the original McAdoo boomers, who also confessed himself "up in the air" on the situation.

The only certainty in the opinion of Mr. Shouse and other McAdoo boosters is that the president's son-in-law is definitely out of the reckoning and will not be considered by the convention.

In this connection it transpired that Daniel C. Hooper, former commissioner of internal revenue, who was going to the convention as the Democratic candidate for the office of the United States in San Francisco last Saturday night.

Speculation on the reason for Mr. McAdoo's withdrawal was more animated after following the arrival of Washington officials last night.

Forces Turning to Wilson.

Some Democratic leaders are convinced that nothing could have caused McAdoo to eliminate himself save the hope of his father-in-law to take the nomination for a third term. They viewed the act of self-abnegation a sure sign of the way for the convention to turn to Mr. Wilson as the political savior of the Democratic party.

These leaders' failure of the nomination to remove himself from consideration in his New York World interview bulked large with significance of Mr. Wilson's willingness to accept the nomination. They think the president is playing masterly politics to achieve either renomination or a dramatic and impressive vindication at the hands of his party. They foresee the convention deadlocked and turning instinctively to Wilson, whereupon the president either will accept the nomination or decline it in a message to the convention on the ground of physical infirmity.

Photographs to Show Recovery.

One of the significant bits of news tonight from Washington is that the president had himself photographed at the White House on Saturday in various poses, standing and walking, to demonstrate his recovery of physical vigor. This intelligence was communicated as a tip on the situation by one of the president to men who will be in control of large delegations to the convention. It was accepted as proof that the president is recovering particularly significant by Washington officials who have talked with Mr. Wilson within the last forty-eight hours and have been impressed with the belief that he has practically recovered his physical vigor.

MRS. COOLIDGE PLACES FAMILY BEFORE POLITICS

Is Sure Ballot Will Not Degrade Woman.

Northampton, Mass., June 20.—[Special.]—Mrs. Calvin Coolidge, wife of Gov. Coolidge, Republican nominee for vice president, is more interested in the welfare and happiness of her husband and her two sons than anything else. To this she frankly confesses. That she is a distinctly "home type" of woman is reflected clearly in her every utterance on the question.

She made the fact doubly evident in her discussion of the place women should take in the political life of the nation. Mrs. Coolidge is not an "anti." She believes in the right of women to cast her ballot and believes she should avail herself of the opportunity. She does not believe that participation in politics should interfere in the home duties of any woman.

Women to Improve Politics.

To use her own phrase: If being a suffragette means going out and working for the cause, I have never been one. I have never done anything in that line. But I do think that women are going to take a steadily larger part in business and in politics and I believe it is going to be a very good thing.

"You're not afraid of women in politics losing their femininity and idealism?" she was asked.

"Anything but afraid," said Mrs. Coolidge. "Why should they? And a woman with children, which women have sooner or later, do you think when it comes to making laws which will affect her offspring she is going to lose her honesty or ideals? Not much. There will always, of course, be adroitness and chicanery of both sexes in every place. But the woman as a whole will think and act in a way to bring politics up to them rather than lower themselves to it."

Defines Man's Place in Home.

"And what is the man's place in the home?"

"Very different from the woman's. As long as you please about parenthood and everything else, the man's duty—starting him in the face—is to go out and fight for bread and the honorable things a lifetime well spent can bring for himself, his wife and his children."

"A man cannot stay at home and be the parent that the formative years of a child's development. While the father is absent he must 'fill in' and nurture young nature with the finest and best things which she, as no one else, can give them. Later comes the father's turn, when the child and look to him for moral counsel and help."

"And there's just that one genuine danger in politics for women, that they too may get engrossed in the outside struggle to the neglect of their children, a neglect for which the mother will always be held responsible, for no one can take her place in those early years."

IRISH FACTIONS FIGHT; 5 DIE; 100 WOUNDED

Londonderry Scene of Hot Battle.

LONDONDERRY, June 20.—[By the Associated Press.]—Five persons were killed, ten others seriously wounded, several of them probably fatally, and about one hundred others were less seriously injured during a period of desperate rioting in this city last night. The fighting was accompanied by several attempts at incendiarism, one of which resulted in the burning of a large drapery store.

The rioting was a continuation of the disorders of Friday night, when Nationalists and Unionists engaged in clashes for several hours and the military had to be called out. The military remained in what were considered the danger zones, but not withstanding its presence the disorderly elements held away for some time.

Many Suffer Minor Injuries.

In many instances persons who were suffering from minor wounds went home without receiving treatment. The authorities have no record of the number of such cases. Among the wounded are several shipyard workers with bad gunshot wounds.

The men killed were Edwin Price, James McVeigh, Thomas McLaughlin, Thomas Farren, and James Doherty. The authorities had taken elaborate precautions in view of the expected renewal of the disorders. The military, fully equipped, took positions at the head and foot of Bridge street, which is the Nationalist quarter, and on Fountain street, the Unionist quarter. An armored car was drawn up at Castle road, between these localities, to keep the rival factions apart.

Unafraid of Military.

The hopes that these precautions would lead to the preservation of peace, however, were not fulfilled, and another night of terror resulted.

These latest scenes of rioting, which left the city absolutely terror-stricken, were said to have originated in what at first appeared to be a minor squabble between Unionists and Nationalists at the junction of Longtower street, in the Nationalist quarter, and Upper Fountain street, the Unionist district, these two streets being separated only by Bishop street, the scene of rioting for many years during periods of rioting.

Men armed with rifles and revolvers afterwards came into conflict, and before the military could intervene several had been killed.

Rioting for Two Hours.

From shortly after 9 until 11 o'clock pandemonium reigned. A shot fired from one party into a crowd of rival partisans developed "with ominous speed into violent rioting. Party cries were raised, and the Unionists, assembled at the head of Upper Fountain street, poured volley after volley of rifle and revolver fire into Longtower street, with disastrous results.

Another crowd of Unionists in Albert street maintained a cross fire in the direction of Bishop's gate, with the result that the people in the vicinity fled panic-stricken to shelter. The Nationalists did not seem to be so well prepared with weapons as their opponents, but they maintained a vigorous defense.

In an early stage of the battle two men were shot dead in Longtower street and a number of persons, including a baby in arms, were wounded.

Rain of Bullets.

McVeigh, a laborer, was on his way to a butcher's shop, when, reaching the end of Longtower street, a bullet struck him in the throat. He struggled in a dying condition toward a public house near by, where he fell.

Owing to the fierce fusillade, it was impossible to go to his assistance, but eventually a man rushed through the shower of bullets and dragged him to the shelter. An ambulance was available and an attempt was made to carry him to an infirmary on a shutter. He died on the way.

Farren, the other man killed, was standing in the doorway of his lodging when struck by two bullets, one entering his stomach, proving fatal.

In the midst of the melee a man who knocked down a small boy was chased by an angry mob of men and women. He sought shelter in the City club. Insistent demands for his rejection being ignored, the mob stoned the club.

A large crowd assembled in the non-residential quarter in the center of the city, where fierce fighting also occurred.

When Sadie Johnson, the pretty telephone girl for the Alert Taxi company, reported for duty at 8:30 a. m. she found a strange young man sound asleep on the office bench. He was a nice looking young man she allowed her romantic fancy free play in speculating upon the mystery. All through the forenoon he slept on, dead to the world, and if the telephone service during that time was not up—or down—to its usual efficiency it was because her thoughts were busy with the mystery which had come to brighten up an otherwise drab morning.

The floor boss and the day drivers were unable to answer her inquiries, as it was not until noon, when one of the night men showed up, that Miss Johnson made headway in her researches.

"Who is our guest?" she asked. "Who is the handsome stranger who is parking on the office bench?" She did most of her reading on the screen.

The chauffeur grinned expansively and responded in the same vein:

"He is a poor but worthy young man who had not heard that the country has gone dry. He ran up a taxi bill of $6.80, and as the critical moment approached when he was to pay he discovered that his pocketbook had been stolen—crutched and illegally stolen."

"Old stuff," was Miss Johnson's comment, "but he looks like a nice boy."

"O, I guess he's all right, only his story didn't sound convincing. He was out with a dame, a perfect lady, he said, but he didn't know her name and he didn't know where they had dinner and he took only one drink. Some drink that was! It must have had 100 per cent kick, because such a fellow had to lift him into the car."

"It's a shame the way these places are allowed to sell drinks," she remarked. "There are a lot of people yelling for law and order who break the law themselves three or four times a day! They are for law when the law pleases them and for order whenever they can get somebody to take the order. Well, what happened when he couldn't pay?"

"Well, he and Buck had an argument, and then a cop comes up and horns in. He suggests that the mysterious stranger go over to the station and report the loss of his fortune; but no, that would mean getting into the papers and the folks at home finding out—utter disgrace and all that, you know. Regular melodrama stuff. So finally he proposes to come here and work off the mortgage. He wouldn't telegraph home and he wouldn't give his watch as security—present from mother, he says—and that's why he's here. The boss told him to get some sleep, and if he ever wakes up he is to work six dollars and eighty cents' worth in the garage."

The mystery, while shedding its baffling features, still contained elements of interest for Miss Johnson. To her romantic fancy the youth was held as a hostage.

She gently placed a blanket over the sleeping figure, for the morning was cool, and in leisure moments when the phone was silent she built quite a structure of romance about the young man. He was willing to work! That in itself was noteworthy. Most others would have scolded the watch or ducked at the first opportunity.

In the meantime all hands in the garage had the story. Their comments were humorous at first, then assumed a more serious aspect.

"Say, this guy don't belong to the union," said one driver, "and this is a union shop. He'll have to join or else nothing doing for him."

The foreman was consulted, and his serious face reflected the fact that Tom Wickham had become an economic problem in the shop.

When Tom awakened the first thing he saw was the pleasant face of Miss Sadie Johnson, regarding him with unmistakable interest.

British Rush Warship Fleet to Near East

LONDON, June 20.—Serious developments in the near east caused the hurried Hythe conference with the Greek premier, M. Venizelos, according to some London and Paris papers. It is asserted that the British cabinet has accepted the offer of M. Venizelos of the Greek army to assist the British troops against Mustapha Kemal's nationalist forces.

SAILOR AND CLERK SLAIN BY PARADERS

'Abyssinian Princes' Sought by Police.

Two men were killed last night, one of them a sailor, and two, one a policeman, were wounded in a brawl at Thirty-fifth street and Prairie avenue.

The brawl was the outcome of a parade organized by the "Star Order of Ethiopia and the Ethiopian Missionary to Abyssinia"—a band of sailors who were "going back to Abyssinia," a crowd of colored men filled with the fervor of propaganda.

The police are searching for "Dr." R. D. Jones of Washington, D. C. said to be the chief agitator of the "Abyssinian movement," and some of the "princes of Abyssinia," associated with him in the demonstration which resulted in the killing.

Half an hour after the shooting had ceased there were 700 police in the territory. All shops were closed. Colored business men and white were ordered successfully to keep law and order.

Dead and Injured.

The dead: ROBERT LAWSON ROSE, quartermaster 3d class, 18th regiment, Great Lakes, veteran of a distinguished service record, 39 years old.

JOSEPH ROY, 59 years old, 2614 Michigan avenue, clerk in the United Cigar Stores shop at Thirty-fifth street and Prairie avenue. He was shot with a "dum-dum" bullet and his head was blown off though it had been split with an ax.

The wounded: JOSEPH T. OWENS, 5306 Indiana avenue, colored policeman of the Cottage Grove avenue station. He was operated on at the Michael Reese hospital at midnight. One bullet pierced his kidneys and another a lung. He has a fair chance to live, the hospital authorities said.

WILLIAM CARTER, colored butler in the home of S. H. Wiese, Hubbard Woods, shot in both legs.

Burned Up S. Flag.

The shooting followed the burning of two American flags.

The paraders were led by Grover C. Redding, Joseph Fernon, and his son, all in fantastic raiment and mounted on horseback, and had gone several times through the south side streets. They intended to hold a meeting in the Second Ward Republican clubrooms, over the Entertainers' cafe, 211 East Thirty-fifth street, after the parade.

They had stopped in front of the cafe. Some one had taken two American flags from their place of concealment. The only flag flown by the marchers was the Abyssinian banner, red, green, and yellow, with the lion of King Menelik rampant.

A bonfire was built. An American flag was thrown into it. Policemen Owens rushed forward, his club raised. One of the men on horseback, said to have been a native Abyssinian, and the leader of the parade, fired with a short rifle.

The sailor, who had been touring the south side with his "buddies," Norman Arthur Bennett and Jasper L. Clute, sprang out of an automobile when he saw the parade, and when the policeman was shot Rose was almost at his side. He got a bullet in his right side. He turned and ran into the cigar store.

Kill Two with Rifles.

The men with the rifles—some said they got the guns from an automobile standing near by—ran to the door of the shop and fired a volley. The sailor and Hoyt both dropped dead.

Bennett, member of the same regiment as Rose, was alarmed when the latter leaped from the machine. He sought to follow. A colored man seized him by the arm and whispered: "Don't go down there, son; there's trouble for you if you do."

"If there's trouble," said Bennett, "I want to be in it. My buddy's there."

He wrenched himself away and got to the scene of the shooting just after Rose had died.

Second Flag Tossed in the Fire.

Carter, the porter, had also run to ward the bonfire when he saw the flag blazing, and felt pains shoot through his legs. He ran and fell. He is at the Michael Reese hospital.

During the shooting the second flag was thrown upon the fire.

Six witnesses are held at the Cottage Grove station. Lawrence Bradley, 42 West Thirty-fifth street, a colored barber, employed at 206 East Thirty-fifth street, told of seeing an "Abyssinian prince," believed to be Redding, riding a horse with a revolver in his hand and doing some shooting.

The police say there is evidence that four or five paraders took rifles from under their coats and began shooting. The police say the "prince" is an ex-convict who served time in the Ohio state prison under the number of 10764.

The word went out a short time later to John and Elder Grover C. Redding, colored, as the leaders of the Abyssinian followers.

"He's an agitator, a radical," Capt. Thomas Caughlin of the Cottage Grove avenue police said of Jonas. "He's the leader of these Abyssinians and the 'back to Abyssinia' movement."

Addressed Afternoon Meeting.

Jonas had been around the station every day for some time, the captain said. He had addressed a meeting during the afternoon at 2516 South State street, in which he advocated a union between Irish, Jews, Negroes, and labor organizations for a third party with William Hale Thompson at its head.

If Thompson were elected, he said, it would mean an effort to free Ireland, Egypt, India, and the British possessions in South Africa. And it might mean too, the re-natament of the treaty between Abyssinia and the United States, ratified during Theodore Roosevelt's administration—a treaty that might give the Negroes a weapon to do away with the "Jim Crow" laws existing in southern states.

Jonas, sought by the police, was found by a Tribune reporter. He admitted his affiliations with the Abyssinians, but asserted he was in no way responsible for last night's trouble, and blamed Redding for it.

JONAS' STORY

"Redding," he said, "poes as an Abyssinian. Mrs. Jonas and I took him in and fed him some time ago, and he started to follow me around. I met him in New York five weeks ago, and I understand he has been in Chicago three weeks."

"He told me he had been to Abyssinia, and when asked him how he got there, he said he had taken an airship from Mexico."

Redding has been sending out propaganda to the Negroes, not only in Chicago but in other cities. It gives them a blank on which is printed, "Star Order of Ethiopia and Ethiopian Missionary to Abyssinia."

Denounce Name of Negro.

It is supposed to certify that the signer is "in sympathy with our motherland, Ethiopia, and that he henceforth denounces the name of Negro which was given him by another race, and that he is ready at any time to go back to Ethiopia to fill any position for which he is qualified."

Charges Members $1 Each.

"There is a list of positions printed at the bottom of the paper, and the names of 'George Gabriel, Abyssinian Linguist and Native of Abyssinia,' and 'Grover C. Redding, secretary and missionary.' Then there is this notice: 'Mail to 1212 Thirteenth street, Washington, D. C., in care Mrs. Dabney, offices 115 West One Hundred and Thirty-eighth street, New York city, in care Charles Mahon.' And further the name of Joseph Goldberg, Jaffa, Palestine."

"Now there is nothing on this paper about money, but Redding told every one to send $1 with the signed pledge, and promises his fare will be paid to Abyssinia. He works through the Universal Negro Improvement association and the Black Star Line steamship company."

"Redding Was on Horseback."

Redding was in the parade today. He was one of the men on horseback. He has set himself up as quite a leader, beguiling the ignorant colored men of the south side into believing they were wanted back in Abyssinia, where they would all be equal, all have good

THE FIRST 21 CITIES OF THE U. S.

The rank of the first fifteen cities of the United States under the new census has been determined, although the population of Philadelphia is still unannounced. The Quaker city is undoubtedly third, with an estimated 1,750,000 of inhabitants. The population of Kansas City, Mo., has not been announced, but it is expected to total 400,000, which would make it seventeenth on the list. The ranking of several other cities is dependent on the official figures for Kansas City. The map shows the rank of the first twenty-one cities and the population of each so far announced by the census bureau.

job, easy days, leisure and money and opportunity to raise their families. "I have denounced him to the police, to the churches in which he spoke, and even to the federal officials, but nothing has been done."

Explains Ethiopian Flag.

Redding, in a bit of propaganda which contains the old treaty between the United States and Abyssinia, explains the meaning of the flag of the latter country as follows: "The red means the blood of Christ, the green, the grass on which He knelt for you and me, the yellow for the clay. The Ethiopian flag, better known as Calvary flag."

Cannot Explain Flag Burning.

Mr. Jonas could not explain why the American flags were burned. He knew of no bitterness toward the United States on the part of the Abyssinians, he said.

The police believe that the Negroes, aroused over the glorious land of promise, burned the flags as a sign of their contempt for the United States. Jonas said he had introduced the Abyssinian delegation to President Wilson when they first came to the United States some weeks ago, and that he had come to Chicago with them in an effort to get the Republican national convention to insert in its platform a plank for the resumption of the treaty with Abyssinia, which ran out in 1917.

Seek Man in Red Fez.

Others sought are Joseph Fernon and his father. Witnesses say Joseph was mounted on a coal black horse. He wore a blue suit and a red fez, they say, and across his chest was pinned a red, green, and yellow flag with the lion of Menelik.

It was Fernon, the police say, who burned the first American flag after soaking it in some liquid poured from a bottle he took from his pocket.

AN EYEWITNESS STORY

"Policeman Owens grabbed Fernon by the arm and asked him if he was a citizen of this country," said one witness. Fernon answered, "No, my government sent me here, and I'll burn all Negroes, just as I have burned this damned flag."

"Then Owens began to say something else, and Fernon shot him. Fernon is a light skinned Negro."

"His father is coal black and claims to be a native Abyssinian. His father was also on horseback. He dismounted and ran toward an automobile standing in front of the cafe. In the car was a black woman who had two dogs, one red, green, and yellow, the other red, white, and blue."

"The elder Fernon grabbed the latter and started to burn it—and then came the sailor, crying, 'I'll make you respect that flag, damn you,' and two white policemen."

Take Rifles from Auto.

"It was an Abyssinian in a gray checked suit who fired at the sailor. Then three others rushed to the limousine and took out rifles, which they fired. The elder Fernon gave some sort of signal to his followers, and another volley was fired before the paraders dispersed."

"Snake" Cooper, colored porter in the Entertainers' cafe, said one of the Abyssinians told him: "We are going to destroy this government as we have destroyed these flags. Our government is backing us."

POLICE RUSH TO SCENE

Sergeant James Kane was reading a paper in the Cottage Grove avenue station when he was told, over the telephone, that there was a riot.

He notified the detective bureau, the homicide squad, and Chief of Police Garrity. Chief of Detectives Mooney and his rifle squad rushed to Thirty-fifth street at once. Every station on the south side was told to send twenty men and a lieutenant.

The chief called on the first emergency battalion for action, and sent Mal John Bender to take charge of the military formation. He got the second battalion in readiness to move, when he could get no reports from the Cottage Grove police. When the news came he issued a stop order to the second battalion; but already part of them had gone.

"It was a test to show how quickly the police could handle the situation if it became serious," the chief said. "I am well pleased with the work of the force."

Round Up Sailors.

Colored and white business men cooperated with the police in keeping order. The police started rounding up all the sailors in the district. The news of the killing of the jockey had spread, and some of the 3,500 sailors on leave in Chicago had started south.

Soon the police had turned them back, and placed them on trains bound for the Great Lakes. The commander of the naval station cooperated with the police in this roundup.

Three sailors were in the China inn at 3453 Indiana avenue at the time of the shooting. They rushed to the rescue of Rose, but were "strong-armed" by Abyssinians, who, however, did not harm them.

Sailor Walter W. D. S. M. Rose was an adventurer. He served in the Royal Flying corps during the war. Later he won the D. S. M. He also had served in Asiatic waters in the British navy. Bennett and Clute also served overseas during the late war.

POLICE FIND ARSENAL

An arsenal believed to be that of the "Abyssinians" was found by the police in the garage of Robert Anderson Jr., 3226 Prairie avenue. There were five shotguns, one Springfield rifle, and 200 rounds of ammunition.

In addition there were a number of capons, faxes, a large Abyssinian flag, and varicolored blankets, such as are used for horses in parades.

Detective Sergeant Andrew Lavin of the Cottage Grove station and four other officers located the garage in tracing the movements of two men who fled from the scene of the shooting.

The police say they have been informed that the Japanese government is behind the back to Africa Negro movement. They have interrogated one Negro who agreed to go back on the Black Star line and he told them his transportation had been paid by the Japanese consul here.

Find Strange Will.

Later there was found what purported to be "a will of property." It was signed by Harrie Tahr Tanahaw, 2012 South State street, who is described by the police as a prince and a son of King Menelik of Abyssinia.

The language is rather rambling and no conveyance of property is made. Two young women are named, one a Chicagoan—Miss Anetia Jewell, 1820 North La Salle street, and Miss Virginia Brown, 668 West One Hundred and Sixty-second street, New York.

There are inventoried: $75,000 in cash money; $40,000 in Liberty bonds; $15,000 in insurance; a $75,000 stock ranch; a $7,500 gambling house; two diamond rings, value $150,000; a diamond watch, $85,000; a wedding ring, $5,000; two automobiles, $10,800; seven passenger limousine, $8,750; one seven passenger touring car, $7,895.

SAILORS BEAT TWO NEGROES

Late last night a group of sailors encountered a colored man in an alley between Harrison and State streets. They beat him severely. Neighbors notified the Harrison street police, who found him lying in a heap of rubbish. He was semi-conscious when removed to the county hospital.

Harriet Mitchell, 5224 South State street, was rescued by the Harrison street police at the Polk street depot where he had been attacked by twenty-five or thirty sailors and soldiers. He was badly beaten and his life was in danger when the police arrived.

He was buying a ticket for his wife, Mary, who was to leave for Charleston, W. Va. His money and a diamond ring were lost. When taken to the police station it was learned that his wife had disappeared.

At the Wabash and Adams station of the North Shore Electric line several attempts to organize the sailors for a trip to Thirty-fifth and Indiana avenue failed. There seemed to be no leader. Many wanted to go, but the cooler heads advised against it. One offered to pay the car fares of all who would go. He was taken aside by others, and later withdrew his offer. Several hundred had left for the training station by midnight.

Lieut. E. Fisher, chief of the provost guard at the Great Lakes Naval station, was notified by the authorities that sailors were precipitating trouble and inciting riots. He immediately entertained the provost guard for Chicago.

WASHINGTON NEWS

—IN BRIEF—

(BY A STAFF CORRESPONDENT.)

(Washington Bureau of The Tribune.)

WASHINGTON, D. C., June 20.

The cost of producing wheat in 1919 averaged $1.15, according to a survey made by the department of agriculture. More than half the farmers lose money on this basis, the department says.

SENATOR JONES OF WASHINGTON, defending the new merchant marine act, criticized by Premier Lloyd George, said that fair means and foul would be used by other nations in the contest for world trade, and that preferential provisions for an American merchant marine were justified.

REPLYING to a questionnaire sent out by Representative Ireland of Illinois, chairman of the house committee on accounts, Assistant Secretary of the Navy Franklin Roosevelt said that present governmental methods are wasteful and cumbersome.

arriving at 12:15 a. m. He at once took charge of all jockies.

"NOT A RACE RIOT"

Eugene F. Manns of 5903 State street, head of Eugene F. Manns Inc., was one of the colored business men who helped in preserving order. "It should be distinctly stated that this trouble was in no way a race riot," Mr. Manns said. "And it should be remembered that it was a Negro policeman who first went to the defense of the American flag, and who may pay with his life for it, as the white sailor did."

"We business men on the south side want a better understanding, and we believe that if we could talk matters over with a committee of the Chicago Association of Commerce and the Illinois Manufacturers' association, we could bring all racial troubles to an end in a little time."

"We business men know the Negro as no one else knows him. The politician knows him only in April and September, the preacher only when he wants a job. We know him every day. We can deal with him. The politician and the preacher and the social worker cannot. That is the answer to the whole question—cooperation between white and colored business men."

JONAS BOOMS MAYOR AS THIRD PARTY CHOICE

Speech Made to Negroes Before Shooting.

In the afternoon R. D. Jonas, later caught by the police in connection with the south side clash between whites and blacks, had been the principal speaker at a meeting of Negroes at Johnson's hall, 3516 South State street, the object of which was the launching of a campaign to make Mayor Thompson the "third party" candidate for president. At the meeting arrangements were made for a series of open air demonstrations throughout the south side, at which the Negroes were to be addressed from trucks equipped with moving picture machines.

The meeting was held under the auspices of the National Council society, an organization of which Hugh Mason, a Negro, is president, and Patrick H. O'Donnell is national counselor and orator. The object of this organization, as announced by the speakers was to lead together Negroes, Irish and labor leaders as the backbone of the third party.

This party, of which it was proposed to make Mayor Thompson the candidate for president, would aid in freeing Ireland, Egypt, India and the British possessions in South Africa. As a preliminary to this project it was announced that the efforts of the organization would be directed to secure the re-enactment of the treaty between Abyssinia and the United States, originally entered into during the administration of President Roosevelt.

Vilifies "Jim Crow" Laws.

Two reasons were given why the Negro should be so greatly interested in this treaty. They were: 1. It reestablished the United States in friendly alliance with a Negro state. 2. Under it Abyssinians were guaranteed the right to travel at will through the United States under the protection of the federal government. As the Abyssinians are Negroes, it might be expected that there would be a clash with state authorities when they entered states that have "Jim Crow" laws. Then, it was declared, the United States, under the treaty, would be bound to interfere in behalf of the Abyssinians and the opening wedge for the abolition of the "Jim Crow" laws would be driven in.

Fifty Negroes Present.

There were about fifty Negroes present at the meeting, over which Miles M. Webb presided. It was an entirely orderly and peaceful gathering and the speakers were conservative in their statements. Nothing was said which would tend to create race hatreds, and, in fact, Dr. Jonas, Mason, and other speakers were careful to point out that nothing could be obtained by violence. The speakers assured their hearers that the mayor approved of the movement they were advocating and that at the proper time would support him to become a candidate for president. The mayor's selection as the "third party" nominee was urged on the ground that he was the one man who could unite the Negroes and the Irish in the bonds of brotherhood which must be established if they are to serve their common cause.

Praises "Our Mayor."

"William Hale Thompson today is the strongest man in the United States and the one fitted to stand in the footsteps of Abraham Lincoln," said Dr. Jonas. "When I mentioned his name in New York, in Trenton, in Newark, and in Cleveland the cheers that followed seemed to raise the roof. You in Chicago have no idea of the esteem in which your mayor is regarded in the rest of the United States."

"William Hale Thompson is needed in the White House today because he is the one man who can be trusted to carry out Roosevelt's work and put through the treaty with Abyssinia, which expired in 1917. You know what that treaty means to you."

"Just at present I am in favor of the nomination of Johnson as the leader of the third party. But both the Irish and the Negroes want William Hale Thompson, and when the third party leaders are convinced of that he will be nominated."

"Shake Irish Brother's Hand."

"Shake your Irish brother's hand and assure him that no black man will serve under the British flag. Tell the Jew that you will help him establish the complete freedom of Palestine."

"Once you unite the Negroes, the Irish, and the Jews, you will have a combination that it will be impossible to beat."

Dr. Jonas assured his hearers that the leaders of the movement for the establishment of the Irish republic were in favor of the work of the national council. He assured them that he had seen a letter from "President" de Valera that he had abandoned hope of securing an Irish freedom plank in the Democratic platform at San Francisco and would back the "third party" movement. He also told the Negroes that it was through the aid given them by the "Friends of Irish Freedom" that the Negroes had been able to establish a Negro steamship line which would ultimately "carry them to Africa."

PAN-TURK PLANS "REUNION" WITH BULGARS, RUSS

(Chicago Tribune Foreign News Service.)

CONSTANTINOPLE, June 20.—Hamdullah Sibli Bey, organizer of the first men's club in Constantinople and leader of the Pan-Turkish movement, discussing the terms before the Nationalists at Ankara, announced a definite program under way for a reunion of the Turks with the Bulgarians and Russians, whom he refers to as "our ancient children." An Ankara paper, publishing the speech, quotes him as saying the Turks abandoned a military move against Constantinople, which supports the belief the trouble is not confined to guerrilla warfare.

This paper charges the bolsheviks with shipping Azerbaijan rolling stock as well as oil to Russia. The Polish offensive has reduced the Azerbaijan army to 5,000. Many Reds were accompanied by their wives and children, the paper asserts.

50 RED DIVISIONS TO SMASH POLES' 1,200 MILE FRONT

WARSAW, June 18.—The bolsheviks are reported to have assembled fifty divisions for the midsummer drive against Poland, which military observers consider to be now in full swing, the Reds attacking at various points along a 1,200 kilometer front.

Kiev is again in the hands of the bolsheviks, who are also giving renewed attention to the northern front, the so-called gateway between the Dvina and the Beresina, through which they hope to break, sweeping into Minsk and Vilna and forming connections with East Prussia.

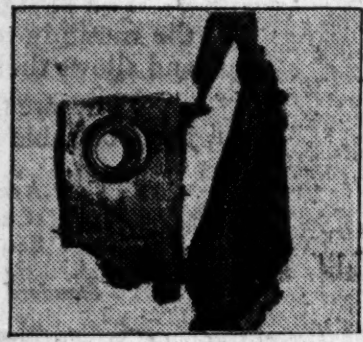

Encouraged by the recapture of Kiev, Gen. Budennyi is continuing his raids. Eight hundred Cossacks have been captured in the region of Radomyl. The Poles are making a stand west of the River Meleran front, extending, roughly, southward to the Dniester.

Victory for Reds.

LONDON, June 20.—The bolsheviks, in a communication issued today, claim to have flung the Poles across the Dniester river to the east of Roslita and to be driving them back toward Korosten and Ovrutsh and in the direction of Proskurov (southeast of Lemberg). Along the left bank of the Dniester the bolsheviks say they have broken the enemy's resistance and are advancing toward Kamenets-Podolsky (west of Mohilev).

East Islip, N. Y., June 20.—Emphatic denial of published reports that she would establish a residence in Reno, Nev., or that she had leased the home of Dr. F. B. "There is absolutely no truth in the reports," Mrs. Dick said, "and I cannot understand where the newspapers got such information."

"I cannot imagine who would say such things about me. You can say for me there is not a word of truth in the reports."

Mrs. Dick was present when her wife issued the denial. He was asked first about the reported Reno lease, and replied: "Mrs. Dick is here. She can answer that question. I believe, to your entire satisfaction."

ANADYR NATIVES ROUTED SLED BY U. S. CONVICT

Seattle, Wash., June 20.—[Special.]—When a band of nearly a hundred self-styled bolsheviks seized trading posts at Anadyr, Siberia, natives organized and drove off the robbers, after killing seventeen of them, according to advices brought to Nome, Alaska, by the Russian schooners Behring and Flyer, today, and cabled to Seattle. The robbers are said to have been led by Michael Mikoff, a former convict in the federal penitentiary at McNeil Island, Puget sound. The trouble occurred in January. The Flyer and Behring are the first vessels out of the ice bound north this year.

The Swenson-Hilberd was the first trading post attacked. John Lampe, custodian, was made a prisoner, but later released. The Kolchak governor, and the radio operator at Anadyr, are reported as having been killed. Their wives, residents of Anadyr, were not molested.

When the Flyer and Behring left the natives were in control.

MOSCOW MOVES TO UNITE REDS FOR U. S. REVOLT

Send Messages to American Socialists.

BY JOHN CLAYTON.
(Chicago Tribune Foreign News Service.)
(By Special Cable.)
[Copyright: 1920: By the Tribune Company.]

PARIS, June 20.—Declaring the revolutionary movement in the United States, if all factions are united, will gain a tremendous impetus and become a real menace to capitalism there, the communist leaders of Russia are bending every effort to unite all the radical parties under the banner of the Third International.

I hadn't been in Moscow for twenty-four hours before I became aware of the presence of many American revolutionists, including representatives of the two communist parties, the I. W. W. and American Socialist.

During my stay in Moscow a contract was drawn up between the leaders of the Communist party of America and of the Communist Labor party of America, signed by them, and sent to the United States for approval. The president of the Third International, Zinovieff, inspired this union as part of the revolutionary body's plans for unity in the United States. Late in March a representative of the Socialist party came, bringing the application of this group for membership in the Communist International.

Message to Socialists.
Zinovieff gave me the following message which he said had been forwarded to the Socialists:

"The executive of the Third International believes, if there is no difference between the I. W. W. and the American Socialist, there is no need of a separate Socialist party in the United States, and he calls on the American Socialists to unite with the American Communist party."

"Before we can admit this body to membership we must have guarantees that the officials at its head are responsible for the American Socialist support of the European war and who sold the working classes to the militarists be excluded from the honest revolutionary ranks. We know the platform of the leaders like Morris Hillquit. We consider them traitors to the revolutionary movement."

Zinovieff on I. W. W.
Speaking of the I. W. W., Zinovieff said:

"...yet there is no official connection between the I. W. W. and the Third International, but, knowing their policy, we are confident it will not be long before the I. W. W. will be united with the communist movement. The executive of the Third International has issued an official proclamation through the organ of the Communist International to the American proletariat represented by the I. W. W. and we are confident they will give a satisfactory answer to this proclamation. The mistake of the I. W. W. are those which radical reform movements have made throughout the world. They refuse to step into the arena of politics, but if they will study the Russian Communist party they will see it is not a political party in the ordinary sense of the word, and they will try to repair their mistakes."

Work Against Gompers.
Among the labor unions in the United States the Communist party has been propagating an extensive insurrection against Gompers and his fellows, declaring them the tools of the capitalist class. Representatives of insurgent unions are finding their way into Russia to study at the communist propaganda school. The Third International has a department for reorganization of trade unions on purely revolutionary lines. Zinovieff declares they will soon be ready to form an international of trade unions which he confidently predicts will be supported by the American labor unions.

The Third International has three big propaganda centers through which it reaches the western world. One is Helmsford, one Lausanne, and the third New York. It is this organization which is directing the propaganda work in America. It keeps in close contact with Moscow, its agents traveling to and from the Baltic ports on seamen's tickets. The present route of entry is via Norway and Murmansk, but some agents manage to make the difficult route across the Finnish border or the open route through Estonia, which is not hard despite the vigilance of the Estonian passport department.

curred. Two girls were among the combatants here. Armed police on duty were compelled to telephone for military assistance, but before reinforcements arrived the riot flared to greater intensity and the firing by unionists became so hot that people who had been seeking shelter in doorways were seen to be crawling along the ground to places of greater safety. Gradually the unionists gained control of the entire district in the center of the city, chasing the nationalists into their own locality. In their retreat the latter fired into the Masonic hall, the windows of which were broken. The unionists posted small groups at vantage points and kept up a continuous fire. It was here Price was killed as he entered the doorway of the Diamond hotel, where he lived. The bullet entered his abdomen, pierced a two inch door, and finally became embedded in a wall.

The military arrived in the center of the city at about 11 o'clock and an armored car was moved to Bishop's Gate, whereupon the rioting subsided, although occasional shots were still heard. The unionists left the neighborhood, singing and cheering.

Drag Occupants from Cars.

There were scenes of wild disorder also in Waterloo place, a Protestant quarter, where nationalists for a couple of hours stopped and examined all persons who attempted to pass. Many shots were fired indiscriminately and several persons were injured. Automobiles were also stopped; the occupants were dragged from the cars and searched.

This mob wrecked a number of shops and appropriated their contents. Flames burst from the drapery store of James Moore, a unionist. The fire brigade arrived with a number of volunteers, some of whom were held up and relieved of their revolvers. It is not known how McLaughlin met his fate. He was brought to an infirmary in a donkey cart and died soon after admission.

Battle in Waterside.

In the Waterside area brawls and firing on an extensive scale continued from 6 o'clock in the evening until midnight. The troops were withdrawn from the streets at 4:30 Sunday morning. It was after their departure that Doherty was shot. He was leaving the house where Farnley lay dead about 5:30 in the morning when he was struck in the abdomen with a bullet from the direction of Rountain street.

John Halbreath, a Unionist workman, was standing at the door of his home when two men from Bridge street fired pointblank at him. He was struck by three bullets and lies in an infirmary in a critical condition.

Fireman Brutally Beaten.

BELFAST, June 20.—According to the Belfast Evening Telegram, Chief Trimble of the fire brigade at Londonderry, says the rioters attacked fireman Jackson, who was brutally beaten while the brigade was engaged in extinguishing a fire in a William street store. Numerous other firemen were obliged to take refuge from the attacks of the mob in a house from which they were chased to headquarters. The mob burned the motor fire engine and all the hose, and the city now is without fire appliances except those possessed by the military.

Sniping occurred in various parts of the city this evening, but there were no casualties. Large bodies of troops were posted this evening at the scenes of Saturday's riots and other forces are held in readiness for emergency.

PERPETRATOR OF INDIA MASSACRE REGAINS HIS JOB

British Army Board Restores Gen. Dyer.

BY JOHN STEELE.

(Chicago Tribune Foreign News Service.)
(By Special Cable.)
LONDON, June 20.—A serious domestic and colonial question confronts Prime Minister Lloyd George for decision as a result of new developments in the case of Gen. R. E. H. Dyer, responsible for the massacre at Amritsar, India. Gen. Dyer was censured and dismissed from the army after a full investigation. Immediately began a reign of agitation by Anglo-Indians in his favor, alleging he saved India from a new mutiny and Anglo-Indian massacre.

The army council yielded to the extent of holding a new inquiry, which Gen. Dyer's friends were fully heard. Now it is stated the council has decided to restore him to army rank, and exonerate him from blame and re-employment. The seriousness of this decision is that the soldiers override the decision of a civil tribunal and the civilian minister, E. S. Montagu, who is responsible to the government of India.

Condemned by Inquiry.

The civil tribunal, Lord Hunter's inquiry committee, condemned Gen. Dyer's action in connection with the firing on a crowd of 5,000 Indians at the Jallianwala Bagh (an inclosed open space outside Amritsar), which resulted in about 380 deaths and the wounding of more than a thousand persons. The minority report attributes his conduct to "a fixed idea that India must be ruled by force," and stigmatizes his conduct as "inhuman and un-British."

The general's famous "crawling order" (an order that all Indians passing through a line where Mrs. Sherwood, an English woman doctor, had been brutally attacked should go on all fours) is condemned by Mr. Montagu's dispatch as "offending against every canon of civilized government." While it is conceded that Gen. Dyer showed "honesty of purpose and unflinching adherence to his sense of duty," the dispatch states that "it is impossible to regard him as fitted to remain entrusted with the responsibilities which his rank and position impose on him."

Reckless with Firing.

"The committee," said the report, "criticized Gen. Dyer adversely on two grounds: (1) that he opened fire without warning, and (2) that he went on firing after the crowd had begun to disperse. The committee pointed out that Gen. Dyer does not suggest the existence of an emergency justifying his decision to fire on the crowd without warning. He stated before the committee that his mind was made up as he came along that if his orders were disobeyed he was going to fire at once. They think it distinctly improbable that the crowd would have dispersed without being fired on, as most of those present had assembled in direct defiance of a proclamation. In conclusion, they do not accept the view that Gen. Dyer's action saved the situation in the Punjab and averted a rebellion on a scale similar to the Mutiny."

Wants Boulogne Action on World Loan.

BY JOHN CLAYTON.

(Chicago Tribune Foreign News Service.)
(By Special Cable.)

PARIS, June 20.—The refusal of the French chamber to accept a lump sum of reparations and their demand that the treaty of Versailles remain untouched in order to force Germany to pay the war costs make M. Millerand's position at Boulogne difficult. Mr. Lloyd George is anxious to see a lump sum fixed.

After the first Hythe conference, when M. Millerand was reported to have agreed to indemnity figures, the right raised a cry which was silenced only by statements from M. Millerand that he had made no agreements with Lloyd George which would make inoperative the reparations clauses of the treaty.

The French are insisting that 120,000,000 gold marks are insufficient to cover the war losses. M. Millerand will place before the commission France's immediate need for cash and suggest a solution through flotation of an international loan by the reparations commission based on Germany's debt. He will ask 55 per cent for France's share. Belgium and Italy are prepared to dispute this, presenting larger claims than at San Remo.

Wants Right to Occupy German Area.

In discussion of ways and means of collecting in case of refusal by Germany to fulfill the terms, M. Millerand will ask permission of the allies for French occupation of German districts with a military force should Germany fail to execute the agreements for disarmament, reparations, and coal supply.

It is understood Mr. Lloyd George will refuse this proposal, countering with a claim that the only way to force the Germans to pay is through blockade. This follows England's declarations at San Remo.

France Needs Money.

France urgently needs the cash to rebuild its devastated regions, declare its political leaders. It is unable to float more loans on its own responsibility and will seek 55 per cent of any loan floated by the reparations commission.

The French foreign office announced the Russian trade question would be discussed from French and English viewpoints at Boulogne.

KAPP REFUGEES JOIN TURK ARMY BY AIR ROUTE

(Chicago Tribune Foreign News Service.)
(By Special Cable.)

BERLIN, June 20.—According to sources of information which have proved reliable in such matters three German officers who have been fugitives since the failure of the Kapp coup have joined Kemal Pasha in Anatolia.

Col. Bauer, who was chief of staff for Gen. von Lueke during the Kapp hundred hour government, and who recently bobbed up in Budapest and then disappeared again; Maj. Bischoff, former head of the iron division in its Baltic enterprise, and Commander Ehrhardt, former head of the marine brigade which captured Berlin on March 13, are the three officers.

It is reported the three made the trip to Anatolia in an airplane.

Future Soldiers

America's future defenders—the flower of her youth—are now acquiring the rudiments of military science at Camp Custer, Battle Creek, Mich. Some 1,500 high school students, from Chicago, Detroit, St. Paul, Minneapolis, Indianapolis, and smaller cities and towns, are pup-tenting at the central states' West Point. The roster is expected to total 2,000 with today's arrivals.

Everything is free—railroad fare, board, equipment, and instruction. Uncle Sam, the host, pays the bills. Any high school boy who is a member of the R. O. T. C. and able to pass the physical and mental tests, can attend. He must be 16 years old or over.

"They are eager to learn, and no hardship faces them," said Col. J. P. O'Neil, U. S. A., the commandant. "The training camp idea, which was inaugurated during the war, seems to be winning nationwide approval. We look for the enrollments to double or treble next year."

"Parents are coming to realize that the welfare of the nation is based upon its youth; that we must have a definite standard and goal in the matter of physical and mental health and training; that military discipline is the greatest asset a man may acquire. Each of these boys, when he concludes his training here, will be a human document in preparedness."

BRITISH SUFFER HEAVILY FROM TURK ATTACKS

(Chicago Tribune Foreign News Service.)
(By Special Cable.)

CONSTANTINOPLE, June 20.—Sophie Holt of Duluth, arriving today with 200 of the last orphans from Ismid, reports severe fighting there, although Deridje, where the Greeks and Americans have been told to evacuate, is quiet.

British ships are bombarding the Nationalist approaches near Ismid, while the Turks are using only rifles, indicating the attack is conducted merely by independent bandits, instead of by forces from Kemal Pasha's army, with Deridje and Constantinople as objectives.

The Near East relief has one and one-half million dollars' worth of goods at Deridje, which also is the British supply base, and hence offers an attractive loot.

British casualties are high. A conservative estimate of the attacking Turks is 15,000.

The total French casualties during the temporary occupation of Cilicia were 6,000 men, including Armenian troops, and 124 officers.

The Batoum evacuation is proceeding, refugees and supplies arriving here daily.

MEXICAN POLICY ON PETROLEUM TO BE LIBERAL

De La Huerta Eager to Win U. S. Friendship.

City of Mexico, June 20.—Mexican petroleum laws, based upon article 27 of the constitution, nationalizing deposits of oil, which article will be interpreted liberally, will not be retroactive, declared Adolfo de la Huerta, provisional president, to foreign correspondents today. Sen. de la Huerta spoke freely in discussing problems before the country, being host at a luncheon given to the newspapermen.

The policy of friendship toward foreign nations, especially the United States, together with the assumption of all legally contracted debts of the Mexican republic, is a part of the provisional president's program.

Answers Many Questions.

During the two hours the president talked with the correspondents he answered a rapid fire of questions with amazing frankness. Once he had a sudden attack of illness and was forced to cease speaking for several moments.

Asked specifically what he meant by "debts legally contracted," the provisional president replied laughingly: "Please do not confuse me with the former president [Victoriano Huerta], although our names are almost alike."

With regard to a Mexican foreign loan, he evaded the issue by declaring: "These conversations with foreign journalists are the first steps which have been taken in this direction."

Faces Two Problems.

"Mexico faces two problems at present," he continued. "These are the economic and military problems. Mexico is more completely pacified now than during the time of Porfirio Diaz. Villa, whose status is that of a mere bandit, is not a military problem. Airplanes are being sent to locate Villa, who, pursued relentlessly, soon will be eliminated."

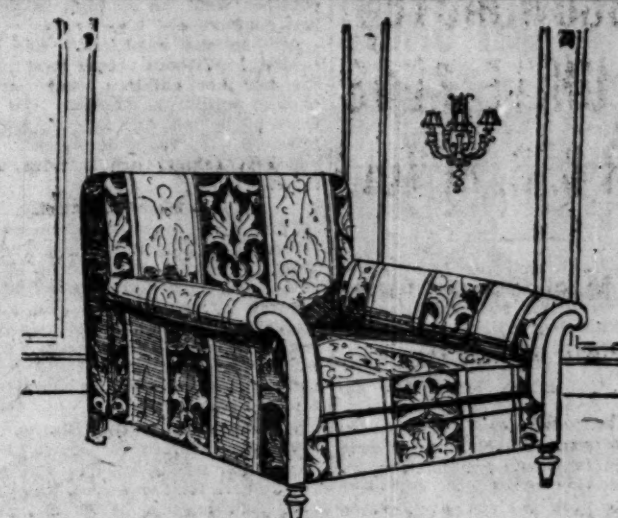

"The organization of the army, while difficult, will be accomplished without delay, under the leadership of Plutarco Elias Calles, the war minister."

Asked regarding censorship of news dispatches, the president declared he had not been aware a censorship existed. Turning to his chief of staff, Col. Ramirez, he ordered the censorship abolished immediately. He explained the censorship probably was a left-over from the former administration.

Tells of Carranza's Death.

President de la Huerta described Carranza's death as the "only blot upon the revolution." Continuing, he said: "An investigation of this tragedy is now in the hands of the judicial authorities, into whose proceedings I cannot legally interfere. Personally and unofficially, I think Adolfo Herrero should be arrested, but, as I have explained, I said nothing. Carranza's death was never intended by the leaders of the revolution, who did all in their power to prevent harming him."

Present at the luncheon, on the president's invitation, were ten representatives of foreign news organizations, including those from the United States, Spain, Cuba, and Chile.

ALCONQUIN CAMP OPENS NEW LIFE TO TIRED MOTHER

They were taking the histories of the guests at this Tribune's free hospital and camp for poor convalescent mothers and their children at Algonquin yesterday.

"And your husband?" asked Mrs. Laura J. Collier, superintendent, addressing a thin, pale little woman.

"He is tubercular," was the answer.

"Works as much as he can on a farm in Michigan. I was scrubbing floors in a downtown office building, but after the baby came I just couldn't get up enough strength to work again. Then the milk and other things were so high. On alternate days I let the baby have all the milk and gave the other children potatoes and bread. We couldn't afford butter. Finally the potatoes went up so high in price I just couldn't—

And so she went on. She just couldn't. Without proper food neither she nor her children were getting enough nutrition. Besides the baby there is Eleanor, age 4; Johnny, 7, and Frank, 9. All are underweight. Eleanor and Johnny are inclined to be rickety.

Three Others in Family.

The four youngsters and their mother arrived at Algonquin last Tuesday. They have been getting the best of wholesome food and milk with fresh country air, clean beds, and lots of recreation. The baby has gained two pounds, Eleanor has gained one pound, Johnny has taken on three pounds and a quarter, and Frank has taken on a pound and a half.

What the Outing Means.

When this family returns to Chicago the mother will be stronger and better able to care for her babies. The youngsters will have a better chance for health, and Frank, the eldest, will get along in his studies better than ever before.

There is room for approximately 300 mothers and their children at Algonquin. The guests drink 100 gallons of milk every week and consume 1,000 loaves of bread, besides all the fresh vegetables and meat which is served. It costs $5 per week for each mother and her babies. How many unfortunate families can you afford to send to Algonquin?

Contributions for the Algonquin fund or this Tribune's free ice fund, which supplies ice to the poor families in Chicago, can be sent at once to this Tribune office.

College Students Plan Y. M. C. A. Religious Work

Lake Geneva, Wis., June 20.—Scores of college students announced their intention to enter religious or social service work at the Young Men's Christian association students' conference, which closed a ten day meeting today. Among the number were many foreign students representing virtually every nation of the world. Dr. Oscar S. Davis of the Chicago Theological seminary, in an address today summing up the work of the conference, said: "Individual redemption first, and after that, dedication and consecration to the ministry of the world comprise the twofold achievement of the conference."

MAN SLAIN WHO SAVES DAUGHTER FROM ATTACKER

Whitehall, Ill., June 20.—(Special.)—William Bowen, proprietor of the Bowen hotel, was shot and instantly killed today while in the act of rescuing his daughter from an attack by a guest, John Caldwell, who turned on Bowen and shot twice. Caldwell gave himself up and was taken to the county jail at Carlinville.

The evidence showed that Caldwell had been attentive to Bowen's daughter and was enforcing his attentions by entering a room occupied by her. Her cries attracted the attention of her father, who forced an entrance just as Caldwell drew a revolver and fired twice. One ball entered near the heart and the other his right side. Bowen fell dead.

4,735,000 YANK HEROES TO GET VICTORY MEDALS

Washington, D. C., June 20.—Distribution of 4,735,000 victory medals to members of the army, navy, and marine corps who were in service between April 6, 1917, and November 11, 1918, will begin tomorrow. In addition to the medal itself the war department has authorized the issuance of thirteen "combat or major operation clasps" and a "defensive sector clasp," to be worn on the ribbon with the medal, and five overseas service clasps for troops not entitled to battle insignia.

Among the major operations clasps the Meuse-Argonne offensive leads in point of numbers, department records showing 1,828,550 men are entitled to this decoration. The St. Mihiel drive is second with 657,750, and the Alsne-Marne battle third with 277,500. The first victory medal was presented in February to President Wilson as commander in chief of the nation's military and naval forces.

HARDING GIVES POLITICS A REST AND TAKES ONE

Spends Sunday with His Family and Friends.

[BY A STAFF CORRESPONDENT.]
Washington, D. C., June 20.—[Special.]—Senator Warren G. Harding, Republican presidential nominee, took a recess from politics and spent today with his family and personal friends. The senator went for a motor ride in the afternoon and in the evening dined at home with Mrs. Harding and his house guests, Mr. and Mrs. F. E. Robery of San Antonio and Mr. R. B. Crager of Brownsville, Texas. Tomorrow the special committee from the Republican national committee will confer with the senator, both in the morning and the afternoon. Committee in Washington.

The members of the committee, National Committeemen Weeks of Massachusetts, Hert of Kentucky, Hamon of Oklahoma, and Williams of Oregon, are all in Washington and spent the day together. They said later that they would not talk about their deliberations until tomorrow.

Will H. Hays, chairman of the Republican national committee, will be in attendance upon the conference tomorrow, the primary purpose of which is to arrange definite campaign plans and set the dates for the formal notification of Senator Harding and Gov. Coolidge. By tomorrow this special committee probably will announce the membership of a campaign committee which will take actual charge of the fight during the coming summer.

Prepares Campaign Speech.
Senator Harding has already begun work on his speech of acceptance. It was announced. He has been gathering material from many sources, as is indicated by his callers during the past week. He has conferred frequently with Senator Fall of New Mexico upon a future Mexican policy for a Republican administration; with Senators Lodge and Smoot upon matters pertaining to foreign affairs, and with House Leader Mondell, Senator McNary of Oregon, and Representative Sinnott of the same state upon land reclamation projects in the west, as well as upon conservation of natural resources.

The editors of agricultural papers with whom the senator took lunch yesterday furnished him some new ideas upon the agrarian situation and it is presumed that quite a portion of his speech of acceptance will treat of the serious problems now confronting the farmer and the country through the lack of labor on the farms.

COAL SHORTAGE RELIEF NEAR.
Washington, D. C., June 20.—Railroads east of the Mississippi river, at the direction of the interstate commerce commission, will give tomorrow on an attempt to relieve coal shortages existing in the east and south in New England. The commission's order provides that railroads east of the Mississippi for thirty days shall give coal mine preference over all other industries in the supply of coal.

Their Kidnapers Eludes Police

Ila Ryan and Vivian Freisinger, who were kidnaped, given new clothes, and then beaten.

New clues developed by the police yesterday failed to uncover the woman kidnaper and her two girl aids who took Ila Ryan, 3 years old, and Vivian Freisinger, age 4, from the street in front of their homes, bought them new clothes, beat them a few hours, and then returned them to their homes. The Ryan child led her father, Patrick Ryan, and Detective Sergeants Baynes and Parodi from her home at 901 South Kedzie avenue to the clothing store of David Braun, 1216 South Kedzie avenue, where the woman purchased her clothes. The girl led the way to a house at 2727 Polk street. She identified it as the place she was kept for several hours. After questioning Mrs. Belle Brown and Mrs. Bridget Broderick, the occupants, the detectives were satisfied the child had made a mistake.

Further questioning of the Freisinger girl developed the fact that the same woman and girls and taken her Wednesday from in front of her home at 735 Kedzie avenue to a playground connected with the Sears, Roebuck & Co. plant, where her clothes were changed for new ones. The old apparel was not found. Search for Helen Kowalski, 13 years old, 1512 Holt street, who disappeared from her home last Thursday, led yesterday to a house in North Hoyne avenue. The police and Helen's brother visited the place, but gained no clue to the girl.

Late Friday afternoon the mother, Mrs. Frances Kowalski, received a letter from her daughter, saying she was held a prisoner.

The Brighton Park police were asked yesterday morning to search for Victoria Kolbus, 15 years old, who has been missing from her home at 4149 South Albany avenue since June 12. The girl is of dark complexion and weighs about 130 pounds.

DEMOCRATS TO FIGHT SEATING OF SENATOR REED

San Francisco, Cal., June 20.—A contest over the seating of United States Senator James A. Reed of Missouri as a delegate and recommendations for a complete change in party law so as to establish definitely the status of women in the party organization probably will come before the Democratic national committee at its meeting here next Friday, party executives said today.

It also was announced that Attorney General A. Mitchell Palmer would leave Washington for San Francisco tomorrow; that Senator Carter Glass would be here Wednesday, and Gov. Edward I. Edwards of New Jersey Friday or Saturday.

The Reed contest possibility developed today when it was learned the senator had been restored as a delegate at a convention of Fifth Missouri congressional district delegates yesterday, after his name had been thrown out and his place declared vacant by a state convention.

This question is one of jurisdiction between the state and district conventions. Senator Reed's antagonism to certain policies of the administration will make any contest in his case of importance. There are 36 delegates from Missouri.

COX SOUNDS LIKE BEER FAUCET TO WAYNE WHEELER

Washington, D. C., June 20.—[Special.]—Wayne B. Wheeler, general counsel of the Anti-Saloon league, renewed his attacks upon Gov. Cox of Ohio today. Declaring the governor cannot sidestep the charge that he is the wet candidate, Mr. Wheeler says the record of Gov. Cox shows him to be a "nullificationist."

"All of his friends admit that he stands for a beer and wine amendment," said Mr. Wheeler. "This is a direct attack upon the eighteenth amendment. It tries to repeal the amendment by the enactment of a law which prevents its enforcement."

"Mr. Cox has been elected governor of Ohio by deceiving the people as to his attitude on this question."

Man Dies Hanging Head Downward from House

Pittsburgh, Pa., June 20.—[Special.]—Hanging head downward from the edge of a roof on which he had been working, Harry Dibler, 23, of Wall, a suburb, was found dead last evening. Evidently the man had undergone a slow and agonizing death, with no one to hear his cries for help. Dibler had been engaged to complete the work on the roof of a building.

Choosing Between Salesmen and Advertising

MANY have been relying wholly on salesmen for sales. It sounds convincing when shrewd executives declare that in choosing between salesmen and advertising they will rely on salesmen.

It should not be necessary to choose between them. They should choose both. Because practical salesmen plus adequate advertising accomplish more over a period of time than either salesmen or advertising.

The modern trade influence, which every business selling identifiable goods must have, is public opinion. Salesmen cannot win that. They stop at the retail store. Trade needs the influence that goes on beyond the retailer to the home—adequate advertising.

Advertising approaches the exact science. It can be undertaken now with this experienced organization with little experiment. We welcome inquiry.

Ask any reliable friend of yours in the clothing business. He will tell you that our offer of a genuine made-to-order suit for $29.50—guaranteed all pure wool—is the most astounding clothes value in years.

But an offering so far below the market cannot last long. So we publicly urge all our Chicago friends to act now—to act, before the setting of another day's sun. Delay will cost you many, many dollars on your next suit.

'MILDEWED MAN' TELLS OF TRIP TO GRAVE'S EDGE

Sterling, Ill., June 20.—[Special.]—

Albert Campbell, the "Mildewed Derelict" taken senseless from a refrigerator car here Friday, and at first believed dead, will recover, physicians attending him said today.

Already he has recovered sufficiently to tell somewhat disjointedly the story of his fifteen days' imprisonment

in the sealed car—without water and without food.

"I wanted to get to Chicago," he explained weakly. "Climbed in car.

Couldn't get out—locked. Full of pulp.

Thirsty. Hungry sometimes—chewed pulp. It hurts to be hungry. Then I forgot."

The physicians questioning him then obtained his name—he appeared unable to recall his place of residence.

He rested for a time and resumed his narrative.

"I got so thirsty—it burned. Pulp didn't help much. Then it rained—heard it beating on the roof. Tried to get at it. See—"The man held out his hands, lacerated apparently by the slats of the car ventilator.

Campbell was found when workmen entered the car to unload it at the plant of the Rock Falls Box Board company.

DEMOCRATS TAKE HALOS ALONG ON TRIP TO FRISCO

Illinois will star as a peaceable party at San Francisco. The state delegation is prepared to go along with any proposition or project that is backed by the convention. It will have its own ideas both as to candidate and platform, but there will be no disturbance raised by the fifty-eight Illinoisans if things do not go to suit them. This applies to the possibility of the renomination of Woodrow Wilson for a third term. The majority of the delegation will go the limit in arguing against such a result, but if it must be, Illinois, just as it did at Baltimore, will be found in the Wilson column.

Same Goes on Platform.
The same proposition goes for the platform. The delegation is substantially solid for a light wine and beer plank in the declaration of principles, and the state will be on record for such a plank in the resolutions committee. Congressman Adolph J. Sabath, one of the wet leaders on the floor of the house, will be the Illinois member of the platform committee. But if the majority of the convention is dry, Illinois will acquiesce.

All of this was indicated substantially last night as George E. Brennan, chairman of the delegation, led forty-four of the state's fifty-eight delegates aboard the de luxe special train over the Rock Island that is carrying the Brennan party to the coast. Eight cars made up the train, which runs through to Frisco upon its own schedule. On the train were 170 men and women, including all of the organization leaders, delegates and alternates, and ward leaders.

In Frisco Thursday.
The Brennan special will arrive in San Francisco Thursday evening. The party will have a half day of sight-seeing at Colorado Springs tomorrow

"PRETTIEST CO-ED" PICKS HUSBAND OUTSIDE SCHOOL

Miss Hester Walrath, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Bradley Walrath, 1918 Orrington avenue, Evanston, was voted the prettiest co-ed at Northwestern university in 1917, and many were the Methodist suitors for her hand. But a young man who did not attend Northwestern university, Harry H. Hunter, son of Mr. and Mrs. H. F. Hunter, 1119 Judson avenue, Evanston, has won, and they will be married June 29 in St. Luke's Methodist Episcopal church, Evanston. A reception will follow at the Evanston Country club.

morning, and a stop is scheduled for Lake City and another at Lake Tahoe.

The withdrawal of former Secretary McAdoo as a presidential candidate has revived the hope with many of the Illinois delegates that Champ Clark can come back and become a formidable contender for the nomination. Illinois was instructed for Champ at Baltimore in 1912 by an overwhelming popular majority cast in the preferential primaries, when he and President Wilson were the only candidates. Reports last night, as the crowd was gathering at the station, were to the effect that on the early ballots at least a heavy vote will be cast for the former speaker by the Illinois delegates.

Former Senator James Hamilton Lewis, who carries the endorsement of the Democratic state convention for the nomination for vice president, departs for the west tonight.

IS DEMOCRATIC DARK HORSE AT WHITE HOUSE?

that Mr. Wilson considered himself stronger than his physicians pronounced him, and has been restrained with difficulty from attempting to demonstrate his belief in his restored powers in some striking public manner.

On the other hand, Democratic leaders who had talked with Senator Glass last night were convinced that the president has no thought of accepting a third term nomination, and said they would be greatly surprised if the convention should name him. They were not so sure that the convention would not offer him the nomination, but they were certain that the president, in view of his long illness, could not seriously entertain the thought of seeking reelection.

According to the view held in this quarter the withdrawal of McAdoo had nothing to do with the situation of the president, and was dictated purely by personal considerations. Mrs. McAdoo is thought to have persuaded her husband to retire from politics and the prospect of being assailed in the campaign as the "crown prince" seeking perpetuation of the "Wilson dynasty" is believed to have had something to do with the decision.

These Focus Eyes on Cox.
Those who are convinced that both Wilson and McAdoo are eliminated from consideration regard Gov. Cox as the aspirant who occupies the strongest position on the eve of the assembling of the convention. They are prepared to see Cox develop a majority of the convention, but whether he can win the requisite two-thirds majority is the question being debated last night.

Anti-administration forces and the "wets" generally are lining up for Cox, though he is not the only string they have to their bow. The Illinois

Democrats favor Attorney General Palmer, as do many other delegations who recognize Palmer as a "regular organization" man, one who would not ignore the organization in patronage matters, as has been done to a great extent by Wilson. These Palmer men also have a friendly feeling for Cox.

If the nomination of neither Palmer nor Cox should prove feasible, Murphy, Taggart, the Illinois contingent, and affiliated elements of the convention will be inclined to line up for either Champ Clark or Vice President Marshall. "Ambassador John W. Davis is not looked upon with favor by the anti-administration folks, who think they perceive signs that he is dark horse favorite of the administration crowd.

Marshall, "As President," to Run.

"In my opinion Vice President Marshall is the man on whom the convention is destined to compromise," said former Senator Willard Saulsbury of Delaware, who passed through Chicago on his way to San Francisco. "I sincerely trust that there will be no effort put forth by the administration to dominate the convention."

Another eastern leader said he thought that Marshall would be the nominee, and he outlined a vision of Woodrow Wilson making a supreme sacrifice in the interest of party victory by resigning the presidency on the score of ill health and allowing Marshall to make the race as a president seeking to succeed himself.

G. O. P. LEADER CERTAIN LOWDEN WILL MAKE R

Illinois Republican leaders, that fight for the conference to be held today concerning the political situation, were substantially in asserting that Gov. Lowden will be a candidate for nomination.

Most of them predicted the basis that today's vote will be unable to develop a candidate. There may be no candidate today, but when the day comes at the Blackstone Hotel, the governor will or will not be named to be filed as a candidate for nomination.

May Delay Decision.
If this develops as the conference today there seems to be a candidate. Such a candidate is a candidate. There may be no candidate today, but when the day comes at the Blackstone Hotel, the governor will or will not be named to be filed as a candidate for nomination.

Practically all of the suggestions for governor, other than Lowden, really feel that it is a candidate. There may be no candidate today, but when the day comes at the Blackstone Hotel, the governor will or will not be named to be filed as a candidate for nomination.

New Combine in City
In the conference will be delegates of the Deane and Deane in Chicago, now on the verge of consummation of a harmonious ticket placed in the final state that the Thompson combination will prepare.

O. P. LEADERS CERTAIN LOWDEN WILL MAKE RACE

Republican leaders, arriving here for the conference that is to be held today concerning the state situation, were substantially agreed in asserting that Gov. Lowden will be a candidate for re-election.

Most of them predicated their views on the basis that today's meeting will be unable to develop a candidate other than Gov. Lowden upon whom the sentiment of the state, opposed to a spread of Chicago's city hall influence into the state, will be centered.

May Delay Decision.
If this develops as the concrete conclusion today there seems to be no doubt, but Gov. Lowden will say that he is a candidate. Such a course will be entirely in opposition to his own declaration. There may be no final decision today, but when the discussion at the Blackstone it will be clearly well established whether the governor will or will not permit his name to be filed as a candidate for re-election.

Practically all of the suggested candidates for governor, other than Gov. Lowden, really feel that it is up to the governor to run again. In the analysis, the belief is that all of the near-candidates will subordinate their own aspirations if the executive will say the word.

New Combine in City.
In the conference will be representatives of the Deane and Brundage groups in Chicago, now on the point of consummation of a harmony agreement that will result in a complete merger taking place in the field against the Thompson-Lundin combination will prepare. This combination is strongly and solidly for Lowden as a candidate for governor. From one of Gov. Lowden's closest friends the word came that the governor clearly realizes that a situation can arise today wherein he sees it as a clearly established duty to the downstate to become a candidate for governor, and to go as far as he is able in protecting the downstate against the threatened encroachment of the city hall machine upon the executive and legislative departments at Springfield.

American Ambassador to Great Britain Mentioned for Democratic Presidential Nomination.

John W. Davis, American ambassador to Great Britain, has been mentioned frequently of late as a possibility for the Democratic nomination for president. It has been rumored that Col. House, now on his way abroad, was on a mission to induce Mr. Davis to become an active candidate. Mr. Davis was born in Clarkburg, W. Va., April 13, 1873, has been active in the practice of law, a member of the Sixty-second and Sixty-third congresses, and served as solicitor general of the United States prior to his appointment as ambassador.

The "Adam" Design

A Piece of Furniture that is of "Adam" design is so named because it is either a reproduction of or patterned after the creations of either Robert or John Adam, two brothers, who lived in England about the middle of the Eighteenth Century.

Their father was an architect and the sons became architects, decorators and designers. The elder son, Robert, became architect to the King of England; he died in 1792 and was buried in Westminster Abbey with high honors.

The Adam brothers built palaces for the nobility, houses for the middle classes, and also built terraces and bridges. We read that their style reflected the spirit of Pompeii; they utilized the sphinx, the ram's head, the sea horse and innumerable motifs of earlier days.

Furniture became of more "sensible" design; they were the pioneers in the movement to have perfect harmony in the entire scheme of decoration in any one room; It is said they carried that idea to such an extreme that rooms were robbed of their coziness but their fame as exponents of true decorative art was destined to live for all time.

The Adam brothers made Furniture to fit the room for which it was intended; their style was a complete departure from the massive or ponderous type of Furniture or interior decoration.

The spirit of their Furniture designs might, perhaps, be properly termed "dainty" or "delicate" or "refined" but the Adam Brothers were not Furniture makers but rather decorative artists of pronounced capability.

The John M. Smyth Store presents number eleven of its "Period Furniture" series.

There is so much of the spirit of Companionship in Home Furnishings that they cannot be selected with too much care. They become a part of our daily life; they are a part of us in our hours of leisure and of recreation and nowhere else will you find so large a variance of choice as in this largest of Furniture Stores.

JAZZ AND THRILL CUT FROM FLYING BY STEEL PLANE

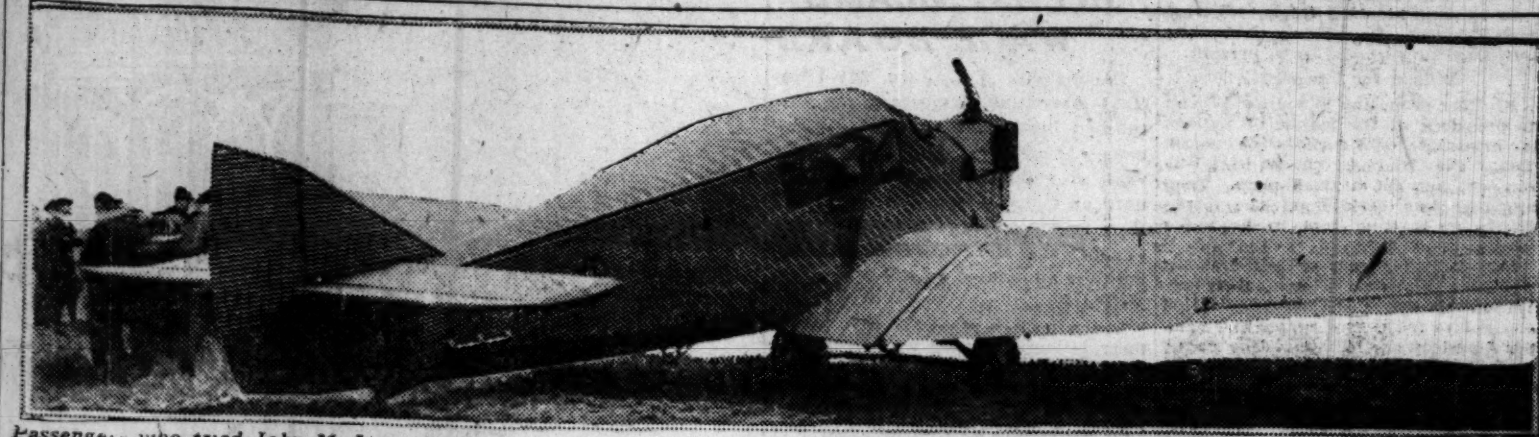

Young Cadet One Wing Low, late of the air service, stepped up on the wing of the steel wing and into the cabin of John M. Larsen's new all steel monoplane yesterday and sat down in one of the six richly upholstered chairs. The ship stood on the tarmac in Maywood.

A youngster of 14 years and his parents followed. It was to be their first flight in the air. The pilot, Bert Acosta, Chief of Police Fred Licht and Forest Park, who sat beside him, "contact" to a mechanic and after the six cylinders V. N. W. 185 horsepower motor took hold waved the crowd away.

A minute later the all steel plane was thundering across the uneven field, it thundered because of the steel, not the motor.

All the Luxuries of Home.

Four hundred feet up the boy's father took out a cigar, applied the electric lighter and puffed clouds of smoke into the heated cabin. The boy's Passengers who tried John M. Larsen's new machine yesterday found it easier riding than in a limousine.

nose was pressed against an isinglass window and his mother was examining the mahogany vanity case for a mirror and powder puff, which she found.

The explosions of the motor were barely audible. They talked of this and that and of how they had expected a thrill.

Just then the boy discovered another plane in the air. It was an old torn and battered "canuck," with open cockpit, smoking, roaring exhaust pipes creaking, wings, and oil throwing rocker arms. It was the ship in which the army learned to fly—the old Curtiss "canuck."

Not Like the Old Game.

"That's what I call flying," said the cadet. "See those birds? They're wearing goggles and their noses are out in the wind. They're probably cold, too, and they can't ever tell when that old motor will cut out or when a wing will drop off. They can't hear. That motor roars. They talk by signs. That's real flying."

"Why, we can't even feel the wind—wouldn't know there was one," said the boy's mother. "It's much easier riding than in our limousine. I could sleep in this chair. Why, it rides easier than a passenger train. It is just like a passenger train only we're elevated. I want a thrill."

But even the glide for the field failed to provide a sensation for her. They floated down, ran along the field a hundred yards, and then hopped out. "Yes, they've taken all the jazz out of flying," said the cadet.

45 YEARS' EXILE BRINGS TRIUMPH TO DANES' CHIEF

Paul Geleff, 78 years old, Danish patriot and publicist, is on his way home after forty-five years of exile. The Danish Socialist-Labor party, which he helped to form, is now in power and he is returning to share in its triumph. Geleff fled from Denmark to Chicago in 1875 after three years' imprisonment. He came in a disguise, a political refugee—he is returning a popular hero. Emissaries of the party had instituted a world-wide search for him which lasted two years. He was found last week and left Friday for Copenhagen.

Worked in Chicago.

In Chicago Geleff became editor of a foreign language newspaper and wrote three or four books, one of which told of his experiences in prison. He met Emil Dreier, then Danish consul here, and Henry Hertz, son of the man who had arrested him. A few years ago, after living here for thirty years, he went to Pueblo, Col. Meantime the germ of unrest spread through the Scandinavian countries. Two years ago the Danish Socialist-Labor party swept into power.

Search for Leader.

Leaders of the party, some of whom had been members of the group led by Geleff, remembered him in his exile. The world-wide search was begun. Agents of the new government went

OVERALL CRAZE INVADES ARTISTIC WORLD OF PARIS

(Chicago Tribune-New York Times Cable.)
(Copyright: 1920.)

PARIS, June 20.—The artistic world of Paris has been amusing itself today with an overall parade. Forty of the best known and most Parisian poets, prose writers, and actresses have invaded almost all the fashionable resorts clad in blue jeans and aprons, like plumbers and scullery maids.

In the morning they promenaded in the famous Avenue des Acacias in the Bois, lunched at the Ermitage restaurant, took tea at Claridge's, held a reception at the Maison des Journalistes, and tonight, from midnight till 2 in the morning, had a ball at Olympia, at which only those wearing blue jeans were admitted.

Although much of today's performance was only good feeling, it is likely to have an effect in popularizing these cheap summer suits.

to South America and Australia. Others came to this country and picked up his trail. He was found at Pueblo, living in obscurity, a poverty stricken old man.

Arrangements for his triumphant return were made at once. He passed through Chicago Friday on his way to New York.

While here he visited old friends, Hertz, who lives at 643 Diversey boulevard, and Otto A. Dreier, 6317 Magnolia avenue, son of the former Danish consul.

TOY NATIONS ASK WORLD POWER'S VOICE IN LEAGUE

BY HENRY WALES.

(Chicago Tribune Foreign News Service.)
(By Special Cable.)

THE HAGUE, June 20.—Elhu Root will try to break the deadlock between big and little powers regarding the choosing of judges. He will submit a concrete plan for selection tomorrow. Mr. Root suggests that the council of the league of nations draw up a panel of fifteen names and that then the assembly of the league of nations draw another panel. A mixed commission, representing both council and assembly, is then to work out the selection of judges through mutual concessions, as is done in the United States senate and house committee agreements.

Mr. Root believes the plan feasible and agreeable to the big power group, as well as to the little powers.

Deschamps Has Plan, Too.

Baron Deschamps of Belgium will present an alternative plan based on various schools of law—British, American, continental, Spanish and Japanese. He proposes that a judge representing each of these broad judicial viewpoints be assured a seat on the bench. But, the Italian, is expected to oppose this on the ground that Italy is not included, while Spain is represented. Representatives of the little powers resent the barring of Perpanides of Brazil, who replaced Bevilacqua, because this leaves five big powers on the committee as against four little powers. Invitations included Gram, Norway, and Vranitch, Jugo-Slavia, who, like Bevilacqua, are unable to be present.

Wilson for President.

An item proposing Woodrow Wilson as president of the league of nations is arousing considerable discussion among the jurists who agree that Wilson will not get a third term. They are therefore divided on the advisability of inviting him to head the league.

One faction says the United States would be flattered. The other insists Wilson's presence in the league would antagonize the United States and hamper American participation. The league council is wondering why Wilson does not call an assembly meeting in Brussels in November, as requested at the Rome meeting. President Wilson ignored the request and the council is worried, as four months' notice is necessary to call the meeting.

N. Y. Flags at Half Mast During Perkins' Funeral

New York, June 20.—Flags were at half mast throughout the city today during the funeral services of Geo. W. Perkins, philanthropist and financier, who died Friday. Other marks of tribute included the stopping of engines on every Hudson river day line steamship, commemorating the late financier's aid in beautifying the Hudson. Among close personal friends who attended the services which were held from the Presbyterian church of Riverdale, a suburb, were Cyrus McCormick of Chicago, former senator Albert J. Beveridge of Indiana, and Senator Frank B. Kellogg of Minnesota. Interment was at Woodlawn cemetery.

YARDMEN QUIT IN EAST; BLAME WAGE BOARD

Philadelphia, Pa., June 20.—[Special.]—Revolted members of the four railroad brotherhoods voted, unanimously today at three meetings to quit work at midnight and to remain out until an increase in pay is granted to them by the railroad labor board. The Pennsylvania and Philadelphia & Reading have announced an embargo on all freight.

Strike leaders predicted that by tomorrow morning they will succeed in tying up passenger and freight service on the Pennsylvania, B. & O., and Philadelphia & Reading lines.

P. G. A. Koehl, member of the committee of fifty-three which organized and called the strike, made a statement today at the meeting.

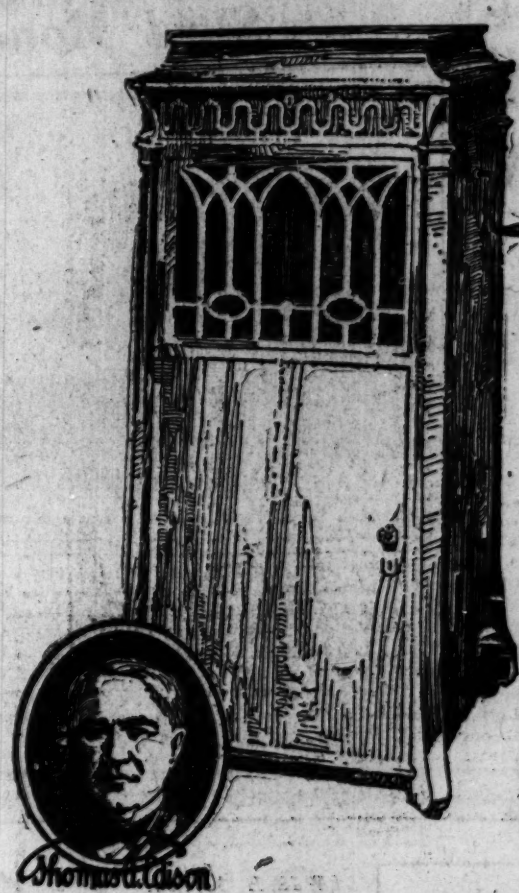

"The railroad workers have gone out for the purpose of protesting against the dilatory tactics of the railroad labor board in passing on the question of wage increases which have been before the board for weeks. They intend to stay out until the board acts, no matter how long it takes."

"We have waited this long on promise in the belief that something would be done. But you can't buy bread with promises."

Meetings similar to this are being held all over the country.

700 Out in Baltimore.

Baltimore, Md., June 20.—Baltimore was hit by the new strike early today and it is claimed by the strikers that every freight yard in or around Baltimore is hampered with about 700 yardmen absent from their work.

F. D. Roosevelt C
Federal Sys

Washington, D. C., June 20.—[Special.]—F. D. Roosevelt, Assistant Secretary of the Interior, today made public today at the department of the interior a reclassification of the work of executive departments and bureaus. He recommended that the Assistant Secretary be in a letter to Representative, Illinois, made public today at the department of the interior.

Wants Real Budget

He recommended that "Create a true budget of the small beginning already." "Consolidate the appropriations of the executive departments." "Put into law the general recommendation of the committee's report, together with the authorization of adequate government employees."

"Invite a conference of the executive branch of the government to a reclassification of the work of the department." "Give by law greater heads of the executive in conducting their duties at the same time holding more directly responsible the successful administration of the present relations."

Mr. Roosevelt said the system of relationship between congress and the departments in fundamental criticism of any individual that they have no discernible fundamental questions of my own wonder is that the existing circumstances of the government of the government as they are."

SAYS U. S. WAY OF KEEPING HOUSE IS BUNGLESOME

F. D. Roosevelt Criticizes
Federal System.

Washington, D. C., June 20.—Revision of methods of making appropriations and a reclassification and redivision of the work of the various executive departments are recommended by Assistant Secretary Roosevelt in a letter to Representative Ireland, Republican, Illinois, which was made public today at the navy department.

Wants Real Budget System.
He recommended that congress:
"Create a true budget system, not the small beginning already attempted."
"Consolidate the appropriations in one general committee, with subcommittees to deal with separate subjects."
"Put into law the general principles recommended by the reclassification committee's report, together with the authorization of adequate salaries to government employees."

"Invite a conference with the executive branch of the government looking to a reclassification and redistribu-tion of the work of the departments."
"Give by law greater authority to the heads of the executive departments in conducting their executive business, at the same time holding these heads more directly responsible for the successful administration of their work."

Present Relations Wrong.
Mr. Roosevelt said that the entire system of relationship which exists between congress and the executive departments is fundamentally wrong.

"Congress for various reasons," he said, "has no tied the hands of the executive officers of the government and they have no discretion in the fundamental questions of employment.
My own wonder is that, considering the existing circumstances, the employees of the government are as efficient as they are."

As to consolidations of any bureau to increase efficiency, Mr. Roosevelt said a lot of work was being done in other departments which ought properly be under the navy and that a great deal of work was being done by the navy department which could properly be transferred to other departments.

Cumbersome Methods.
"After seven years down here in an executive position," he continued, "I cannot help the conclusion that our governmental methods are cumbersome and wasteful."

"I hope you will not take it as a criticism of any individual or this particular congress when I call attention to the unwieldy, inadequate and unbusinesslike methods under which

Midwest Pioneer Who Recalls Indians and Buffalo Is Faithful Tribune Friend.

LEWIS H. SMITH.
(Peterson Photo.)

Lewis H. Smith of Algona, Ia., has read THE TRIBUNE for sixty-seven years. He is one of the pioneer residents of the middle west, although he was born in Boston in 1853, and recalls the days when he fought Indians and shot buffalo on the prairies.

He came to Chicago in 1882 as a civil engineer for the Rock Island railroad and went to Algona in 1884. In 1885 he surveyed the old Sawyer's wagon road from the Missouri river to Nevada City, Mont. Along that line of survey the Northern Pacific railroad is now built.

When Mr. Smith returned from Montana the stage fare from Salt Lake City to Omaha was $500.

He enjoys the distinction of being the first county judge of Kossuth county,
Ia.; established the Kossuth County
State bank in 1870, and is still chairman of the directors. His favorite pastime is fishing, and he and his son-in-law, George R. Horton, manager of the Western Architect of Chicago, take many angling trips together.

the house and senate of the United States conduct their business. For instance, the navy department has to go before the naval affairs committee for its main appropriation; it also has to go before the appropriations committee for the money to run the force in Washington, and I can cite numerous instances where the department has fallen between the fires of the two committees."

IRON BED MAY SOLVE MYSTERY OF GIRL'S DEATH

St. Joseph, Mo., June 20.—Police believe they have a clue to the murder of the young woman whose decapitated body was found in Upper Lake Contrary Wednesday. This clue consists of parts of a bedstead which appeared and disappeared from the rear of the home of Mrs. Mabel Christo in South
St. Joseph.

"The pieces of the bed," Mrs. Christo testified at the inquest, "were leaning up against the shed where I keep my chickens, on the outside of my lot. I don't remember what time it was when I first noticed them. They appeared as if they had been recently painted."
"There were no rails or side pieces in sight, just the front and foot pieces.
A track which appeared to be that of a heavy wagon was not far from the pieces. I let them stay there. Wednesday afternoon I heard from one of my neighbors that the body of the young woman had been found with bed rails attached to it. It wasn't until that night that it occurred to me that the bed rails might have been from the bed in my alley, and on Thursday morning when I looked for the bed it was gone."

HE SAT ON A RAIL DURING A STORM; EATS FROM SHELF

Clearfield, Pa., June 20.—[Special.]
—As the result of a little experience with lightning, Chief of Police Mc-Henry is eating his meals from the mantel. Caught in a sudden rainstorm while near a Pennsylvania railroad siding, the chief ran for shelter under a convenient box car. Shielded from the downpour, he sat on a rail and waited for the storm to pass.
A lightning bolt struck a telephone wire several hundred yards distant, communicated to the rail, and a ball of fire as big as a keg of beer shot down the track. McHenry was thrown unconscious into a field beside the car.
The cool rain falling on his face revived him and he made his way home.
The seat of his trousers was signed,
but aside from the necessity of spending most of his time on his feet, Chief McHenry is little the worse for his experience.

Fulfilling "A Moral Obligation"

THE Charles T. Megee Company manages and operates steamers as agents for the U. S.
Shipping Board.

The Blue Star Navigation Company operates for the Farragut Steamship Corporation, owners of steamships.

One of the U. S. Shipping Board Steamers—the "FORT ARMSTRONG"—was tied up by the longshoremen's strike, at her loading berth, Pier 78, South Wharves, Philadelphia, until—

Captain Charles T. Megee, President of Charles T. Megee Company and President of the Blue Star Navigation Company, took a radical step.

"We propose to get the 'FORT ARMSTRONG' away if it takes every man we have."

And it came to pass that, early Monday morning, the offices of the Charles T.
Megee Company and the Blue Star Navigation Company were stripped bare of its operating and executive forces which were dispatched to the docks.

"SERVICE FIRST"

—to shippers and the U. S. Shipping Board!

"If we owned the 'Fort Armstrong,'" said Captain Megee, "we would exert every effort to load her. Why, then, should we be content to rest on our oars, simply because the U. S. Government holds the bag?"

We are good citizens as well as good business men.

Trustees of the sanitary

Recent negotiations with the situation more optimistic that the remove objections of navigation will be accepted. Last week engineers held a hearing and district representatives made their scheme. They ment. World Cost $1,500,000.

If the plan should be district would pay over to

of the dams. Trustee Wallis chairman of the committee
fig of the district, was at meeting and assurances lead him to believe the plan adopted.

In that event, a bill will be introduced in congress to per-

However, even that amount

SANITARY BOARD HOPES DAM PLAN WILL GET WATER

Effort to Protect Lake May End Dispute.

Members of the sanitary district are confident they will find a way out of the dilemma in which they are placed by Judge Landis' decision limiting the amount of water the district may take from Lake Michigan to 250,000 cubic feet a minute. They hope to be able to reach a compromise with the government by which they will be permitted to take sufficient water that, supplemented by a system of treatment plants, will protect Chicago's health without bearing an enormous debt on the district.

Recent negotiations with United States engineers have made the trustees optimistic that the plan of constructing movable dams in the Niagara river to keep up lake levels and thus remove objections of navigation interest will be accepted. Last week federal engineers held a hearing at Buffalo and district representatives outlined their scheme. They were given assurance that it would be carefully considered by the government.

Would Cost $1,500,000.
If the plan should be accepted the district would pay over to the government $1,500,000 for the construction of dams. Trustee Wallace G. Clark, chairman of the committee on engineering of the district, was at the Buffalo hearing and assurance he received led him to believe the plan may be adopted.

In that event, a bill will be introduced in congress to permit the district to withdraw 10,000 cubic feet, and the objections of the navigation interests withdrawn because of the Niagara construction, it is believed the bill would become a law.

However, even that amount of water would not suffice to treat all Chicago's sewage, and it will be necessary to go forward as rapidly as funds can be raised with the construction of a comprehensive system of activated sludge plants. The district already has adopted a policy by which it has agreed with the government to reduce the amount of the pollution in the channel 50 per cent in twenty-five years by building treatment works.

Clark Explains Plan.
Concerning the movable dam plan, Trustee Clark said last night: "The plan originally was for stationary dams and was recommended by Gen. John C. Black, then chief of army engineers. It was looked upon with favor until Canada and several holders of riparian rights voiced objections. It also came to light that the ice jams might cause a great loss of money in the neighborhood of the dam. Now we have submitted a plan to build movable dams."

"These dams will be in place only three months out of the year. They will be removed during the ice flows. I understand that the riparian right owners will cease their objections, though I am not sure. We hope the plan will be approved by the government."

"If I can't say what the district will do. We haven't any way of raising $100,000,000 to construct sewage treatment plants necessary if the decision by Judge Landis goes into effect."

"There will have to be new legislation, an amendment to the state constitution or something. I don't know what."

HOPE TO CONNECT DRESSER BANDIT TO OTHER CRIMES

Police believe that the bandits who were believed to rob the Dresser Commercial and Savings bank, 232 West Hubbard street, last Thursday, when Edward Bouillard, a depositor, was killed and Policeman Fred Brunk was wounded, also participated in the theft of $1,000 from the United Cigar Stores company. Miss Theresa Bullock, 6353 West Arden avenue, cashier of the company, will attempt to identify one of the seventeen suspects held in the Dresser case.

Similar cars were used in both cases, police say, and wrappers bearing the name of the Dresser bank were found in the home of Arthur Drzycki, another suspect held.

Frank named James Gallagher, who shared, Ed Galvin, and George Wierski as his accomplices. Police hope to get light on the killing of "Reddy the Bear" Ryan through Wierski's arrest.

Charles Shiller Darck, 5049 Sheridan road, debarnd bond salesman, is minus a wife again—for the fourth time in five years.

It was just a year ago last April that he eloped with Edna C. Shadburne, who then lived with her parents at 650 Latrobe avenue. Her father is Edna C. Shadburne, an automobile broker. Mrs. Darck No. 4 announced emphatically last night that she "is through for good."

She will start suit for divorce today. Ex-wives No. 2 and 3 will help her, she says. "It was his white spats and the blond ones that made me love him," she said. "One day he got some coffee on the spats and got mad. That settled it."

During their brief marital experience, the couple lived at the Blackwood hotel, Clarendon and Windsor avenues. There is one child, Charles Shiller Jr., 3 years old.

Mrs. Eleanor Pape Darck, wife No. 1, obtained an annulment of her marriage to Darck in 1915. Mrs. Doris Van Cleet Darck, wife No. 2, obtained a divorce in 1916, while wife No. 3, Mrs. Pauline Sedgewick Darck, obtained a divorce a year later. Wife No. 2 and wife No. 3 are in business together, operating a beauty parlor.

GUNMAN SLAIN BY MAN WHOSE WIFE HE HITS

The police arrested Steven Dominick yesterday morning and charged him with the slaying of "Jimmy" Buttons, according to the police, a "two gun man" who has killed several persons. Sometimes he worked as a watchman. He is said to have gone into Dominick's drug saloon at 6201 South Richmond street yesterday morning, a gun in each hand. He struck Mrs. Dominick over the head and told her, it is said, and then fought a duel with Dominick, in which he was killed. Buttons lived at 5230 South Mozart street.

ADRIFT, 3 BURN SHIRTS; SAVED BY 2 IN LEAKY BOAT

Rescuers Bail, Row to Derelects.

Three men adrift in a stalled motor boat were rescued and towed to safety last night by Detective Sergeant John Stark of the Rogers Park police and George Moore, a real estate man of 1532 Jarvis avenue. The men turned their shirts saturated in oil to attract attention, and Stark and Moore rowed out in a leaky rowboat to the rescue. Those in the boat were:

HERMAN JOHNSON, 28, 948 Addison street.
AXEL WILLIAMS, 26, 3317 Sheffield avenue.
FRED SANDS, 25, 663 Diversey parkway.

Hundreds See Burning Shirts.
The burning shirts were seen by hundreds of persons along the north shore, and some of them notified John Donovan, engineer of the waterworks at the North Shore avenue branch. Donovan telephoned the Rogers Park police station and Stark started to the rescue. On the way he met Moore in an automobile. They drove to the foot of North Shore avenue. They found a leaky rowboat, which they commandeered. Stark rowed and Moore bailed. Amid the cheers of the assemblage on shore they towed the disabled craft to shore.

When further into Lake.
The boatman told their rescuers they had been a mile and a half off shore when they ran out of fuel. The wind was off shore, and they were driven further out.

When it grew dark they became frightened and stripped themselves of their shirts, soaked them in oil, and burned them. Then, shivering, they waited for help.

"ONE BIG UNION" ADVOCATES STIR FEDERATION ROW

A debate over the "one big union" idea of the I. W. W. divided the bi-monthly meeting of the Chicago Federation of Labor into two belligerent camps yesterday. During the argument Samuel Gompers, president of the American Federation of Labor, was termed a liability to organized labor because of his conservative stand on strikes.

The failure of the various ice wagon drivers, packing house, and milk teamsters' unions to call a sympathetic strike to aid the cooks and waiters who have been on strike in several hotels since May 1 provoked the controversy. Agnes Maloney, delegate of the waitresses' union, declared the treatment accorded the strikers was equivalent to labor treason.

"Given the wives and sisters of the strikers have taken their places at the Stevens Building restaurant and the South Shore Country club," she said. "The international union of blockading a sympathetic strike to help the cooks and waiters," said delegate Frankel of the machinists' union. "The sooner we throw off the shackles of the international union and form one big union in Chicago the better off we are."

STANDING ARMY, SUGAR FACTORY IN HUMAN BODY

In the complete commonwealth of the human body there are a standing army, a sugar factory, a well pumping plant, an undertaking establishment—let Health Commissioner Robert Taylor tell about it in his weekly bulletin: "Speaking of wonderful energy, or the capacity for doing things, the heart pumps 1,200 gallons of blood from its chamber every twenty-four hours, the equivalent to lifting 60,000 pounds to a platform forty inches high. The lungs daily take in and throw out fifty to sixty barrels of air while the liver maintains a sugar factory, which converts sugars and starches, consumed as food, into a storable form of sugar—glycogen—and for converting the glycogen into sugar as the cells of the body need it for fuel."

He points out the glycogen "makes" from one to two points of his daily performance the last rites for 20,000,000 red blood corpuscles, replacing them with 20,000,000,000 more.

Then there are the phagocytic cells which defend the cells from enemy germs. "God gave you this marvelous machine; take care of it," he admonishes.

TRACTION FUND MUST BE KEPT, SAYS SCHWARTZ

Alderman Fights Utilities
Board Proposal.

The city council traction committee will not look with favor upon any suggestion of the public utilities commission that the city should relinquish its claim upon a percentage of the profits of the Chicago Surface Lines, according to Ald. U. S. Schwartz, chairman of the committee. In a signed statement given to THE TRIBUNE last night, Ald. Schwartz said: "I am opposed to the reported request of the public utilities commission that the city should relinquish its claim upon a percentage of the profits of the Chicago Surface Lines, according to the contract the companies agreed to pay to the city as compensation for the franchise. This is to use the streets for twenty years."

Fund Held in Trust.
"That fund is held in trust, to be used according to the terms of the order, for the benefit of the car riders, either by the purchase of the lines, the construction of a subway or the building of extensions to the system."

"In the past, any effort to divert this fund even to other public uses has aroused a vigorous public protest. The suggestion that it be handed over to the companies themselves is, to say the least, startling."

"Being a trust fund, I do not believe the city could legally give away any portion of it, past or future. If it wished, but if any member of the city council or any city official were to suggest such action, he would be guilty of a breach of trust."

Knows Opposing Arguments.
"I know the arguments of the chairman of the commission. The 1907 contract is ignored in other respects, but when it comes to determining profits, then payments to the fund under the contract, according to the interpretation of their duty by the commissioners, must be taken in account, and a fare fixed which will place upon the car riders the burden of contributing to the traction fund."

"That was never the intention of the contract. It intended that the fund should be made up out of the profits of the companies, and it is entirely up to the commission whether it will require it to be paid out of profits or lost it on the car rider."

Stands by Contract.
"It may be that a new deal in traction, based on the needs of service and finance, would not contain a provision for a similar fund, but that would be a new contract, even though courts and commission have a scrap of paper of it, the city council will not be a party to the Prussian method of touching a match to the letter."

"I believe in a reasonable solution of the traction problem, giving due consideration to the present, and I believe it will not be accomplished by any such suggestion as the commission makes."

CHICAGO NOT ALONE WHEN IT COMES TO PAYING HIGHER FARE

CONVENTION IN CAMP URGED FOR WOMEN'S CLUBS

A convention under canvas with setting-up exercises between sessions for the next biennial convention was urged upon the General Federation of Women's Clubs tonight by Miss Susan McCroft of Chicago, national commandant of the United States Training corps, which will hold its second annual camp July 15 to August 25 at Asheville, N. C.

Under the plan Miss McCroft described, the day begins with a bugle call at 7 o'clock. Then comes a swim, breakfast, cleanup for inspection, lessons in correct posture, breathing and walking, and setting-up exercises. After these come forty minutes of complete relaxation. A lecture, dinner, trips into the woods, military drill, thirty minutes of relaxation, a swimming lesson, supper at 6 o'clock, the ceremony of lowering the colors, and varied recreation around the camp fire, carry them to "taps."

Church Officer Arrested; Admits Accounts Are Short

Manson Beecher Cotten of 4820 Indiana avenue, treasurer, director and elder in the First Christian church of Baton Rouge, La., member of the advisory board of the Interchurch World movement and of the Louisiana Christian Missionary society, is under arrest at the detective bureau.

Other members of the church in Baton Rouge charge that he is short $1,000 in his accounts.

Cotten says the amount is not that much, possibly it is $700 or $750. He has sent his note for the amount, he says, and hopes to obtain the money from his brother, F. H. Cotten, in Eau Claire, Wis. Cotten says he was living in a $3 a day hotel in Baton Rouge and getting only a small salary. He just couldn't make ends meet, he said.

ELWELL HOME 6 HOURS BEFORE HE WAS KILLED

New Angle to Mystery Is Uncovered.

New York, June 20.—(Special.)—Joseph Borne Elwell, the whist expert, was in his home at 230 a. m. on Friday, June 11, the day he was murdered, according to a discovery today by Assistant District Attorney John T. Dooley.

Elwell's action of the morning of the murder, from 1:45, when he left the Walter Lewishohn party at the Midnight Frolic, until 3:45 o'clock that morning, when he was reported to have been seen returning home, had been entirely unaccounted for, during the first ten days of the investigation.

Now Mr. Dooley has found a new witness, who placed Elwell in his home at 2:30 o'clock on that morning. Dooley announced it had been positively established that Elwell was at home and in communication with another person at 2:30 a. m., but he would not say whether the communication was by telephone. Neither would he name the new witness.

"I could not say positively whether another person was in the house with him that morning," Mr. Dooley said. "Elwell was at home at 2:30 a. m., but whether with one or fifty people I could not say at this time."

Elwell at Home Early.

Mr. Dooley said he believed Elwell had returned almost immediately to his home, after leaving the Lewishohn party, and that he probably had no companion on his way home.

This discovery did not lessen the mystification of the authorities, but made increasingly strange the events which took place in the Elwell house in the hours immediately preceding the murder.

The first change which it made in previously accepted theories was that the person seen by a neighbor entering the Elwell house at 3:45 a. m. was not Elwell himself. The witness who told of this early morning visit is John Isdale.

His story was that, being unable to sleep, he had looked out of the window at 2:45 after hearing an automobile drive up. A man jumped from the machine, waved at the man in the automobile and walked up the steps of the Elwell house, while the automobile drove off with more noise.

Isdale said he did not know Elwell and could not be sure who the visitor was.

Identify "Woman in Gray."

Even if a companion went home with Elwell, or a visitor arrived at 2:45, the opinion of the investigators remains that the murder was not committed by either of them, but by some one who gained admittance to the house, either with a key or by ringing the bell, shortly after 3 o'clock.

Asked if there were any arrests in sight, Dooley answered in the negative. "Has the woman in gray been identified?" he was asked.

"Yes, we have succeeded in identifying her," he replied.

"Has she any connection with the murder?"

"I would not say anything about her except that she has been identified."

This was the second woman mentioned by the housekeeper, Mrs. Larsen. Mrs. Larsen said this woman was not "Miss Wilson." The housekeeper described the woman in gray as "a little, short fat girl." Mr. Dooley would not say whether she was considered one of the possible motives of the murder.

"What about the statement of the chauffeur, that Elwell had a violent quarrel with a woman in a garage at Palm Beach?" Mr. Dooley was asked.

"There may be nothing in that. Elwell had many affairs, and it is hard to say to which ones to attach importance," was the reply.

New View Brings Smiles.

Regarding the report that a woman from a city in Pennsylvania had been on a trip to see Elwell on the night that he was murdered and that she might prove to be an important witness, the prosecutor only smiled.

District Attorney Swann, who last night described the murder as "the greatest mystery of the century," said tonight:

"The police and the district attorney have no more legal evidence as to who committed the crime or whether it was committed by a man or a woman than we had five minutes after the crime was committed."

"We have plenty of theories, but no reason to give preference to one over the other, and it has to be studied from every angle. I have had Mr. Dooley's report, and he has nothing that would point to the one guilty."

LOGANS LOSE TO MAGNETS, 4 TO 2

With the score knotted at the start of the tenth inning, F. Jamieson hit to Bartell, who threw low to first base and gave Magnets the opening for a 4 to 2 victory over the home team at Logan square. Jamieson followed with a single, which Olinger momentarily fumbled, then threw back to third base in an attempt to head off the runner, who scored. F. Jamieson reached third on the play and also tallied when Overmyer lifted a foul to Johnson. Johnny Overmyer came direct from St. Paul and pitched well for the Logans, but errors nullified his work. Score: Magnets, 4; Logans, 2.

Leatrice Joy Is a Joy Forever in "The Invisible Divorce"

"THE INVISIBLE DIVORCE"
Produced by Selznick.
Presented at the State-Lake.
The Ryders.....Leatrice Joy
The Ryders.....Walter Miller
The Ryders.....Grace D'Amico

By Mae Tinec.
This just escaped being a mighty good film. Nothing thunderous or spectacular, but a human document about real people. It falls to convince because those responsible for its well being forsake storiography and simplicity for the greater, let their subject run away with them and end with a bad taste.

However, granting the above to be true, it would not be possible for "The Invisible Divorce" to prove a total failure, for one reason. And this is Leatrice Joy. Her surname may be her own, I suspect, though it was chosen for her by somebody with a sense of the fitness of things. She is real, she is beautiful; she has a world of appeal. She is her last name from start to finish of the picture.

The story is of a young couple, who rise from poverty to affluence (awfully true) not because the husband is a genius, but because the wife is brave and clever and loyal; a gallant little creature who stands by and looks situations and a pettish husband unflinchingly in the face through months and years of neglect and heartache. The husband who sees, becomes absorbed in himself and his affairs; takes all credit for his prosperity to himself and seldom vouchsafes any attention to his wife.

Another couple are mixed up in the affairs of the Ryders and it is with their advent that the picture starts to run wild. Nobody—save Miss Joy—does anything logical or conclusive, and you're not in the least thrilled when in the last reel husband repents and is sweetly received back into favor. The cast is peopled with rather pleasing players, victims of their vehicle. Too bad it lost so many parts before the end of the journey!

I tried to figure out how much change I was to give him. After much struggle I picked up a pencil to figure it out, when the man said, "You're good at arithmetic, aren't you?" E. H.

DORIS BLAKE'S ANSWERS
Seems Indifferent.
Dear Miss Blake: As you have asked so many questions I feel sure you will be able to help me. I am in love with a young man, four and a half years my senior. At times he seems to be so indifferent, I hardly know what to think and again at times I feel as though he really cared. I know from past experience that he becomes displeased if I go out with some other young man. Kindly tell me what to do. I really love him. What does my handwriting denote? "SYLVIA."

And she is the epitome of prettiness. He yourself away to some secure place if the toothpick urge is upon you. Let me leave a note not cut with a knife. NEW YORK.—[Special Correspondence]—We have not yet dropped the handkerchief—tunic. This corseted drape which was first featured last winter is found on many of the smart spring and summer frocks. Here, for instance, we find handkerchief tunics of black satin in combination with a skirt of broad white crepe. The underskirt and girdle are of black satin, as are likewise the buttons that appear on both bodice and skirt. This frock presents a slim, long waisted effect.

Stirups for Canning.

Information sent out from the United States department of agriculture on June 14 is to the effect that canning is as necessary and important this year as in war time. The reasoning put forward is that the commercial canners are having to pay such extremely high prices for raw material, on account of shortage of labor on the farms, and that labor for the factories is so expensive and difficult to obtain that canned products are going to be exceedingly expensive and scanty this coming year.

This department is also advocating the use of the thinnest stirups ever used in canning, or one cup of sugar to nine of water, a pound of sugar making twenty pints of canned fruit. It says: "Where the 10 per cent stirup is used the cost of sugar to Stirups for Canning.

Information sent out from the United States department of agriculture on June 14 is to the effect that canning is as necessary and important this year as in war time. The reasoning put forward is that the commercial canners are having to pay such extremely high prices for raw material, on account of shortage of labor on the farms, and that labor for the factories is so expensive and difficult to obtain that canned products are going to be exceedingly expensive and scanty this coming year.

This department is also advocating the use of the thinnest stirups ever used in canning, or one cup of sugar to nine of water, a pound of sugar making twenty pints of canned fruit. It says: "Where the 10 per cent stirup is used the cost of sugar to

CARS GOING BIGGEST FACTOR TO GRAIN TRADE

By CHARLES D. MICHAELS.

Transportation conditions stand out strongly as the leading factor, not only in the grain trade, but in all lines of business. It is said 60 per cent of the monetary stringency was recently created by slow transportation, the result of the stop of the railroads through labor troubles. This has been overcome to a limited extent, yet monetary conditions remained strained due to recent heavy sales of Liberty bonds by large holders to enable them to meet their obligations. Money is scarce and commands the highest rates in years.

Financing Is Problem.

The problem of financing the new grain crop, especially wheat, has been taken up by the banking interests at Chicago, Minneapolis, Kansas City, St. Louis and the Federal Reserve Bankers, with Governor General Harding, head of the Federal Reserve Bank at Washington, and other government officials. All are understood to favor an early reopening of the wheat trade, although no definite announcements have been made.

It Is Expected That a Statement Will

be made by the exchange committee of sixteen within a short time, his body had the reopening of the wheat trade under discussion and the advisory committee awaits its action. It is a situation in which the business interests are vitally interested, as it affects crop values as well as other commodities.

Seek Wheat Preferential.

An effort is being made to have the Interstate Commerce Commission issue a preferential order for the improvement of the new wheat crop. This may be done soon as harvesting is on, and is rapidly moving northward. Vast quantities of old wheat remain to be marketed and the situation is most unusual. In former years railroads have placed 20,000 to 40,000 cars west of the Missouri river preparatory to moving the new grain. This year there is so much old wheat to be marketed that it is possible last week's deliveries at primary markets were as large as they are likely to be for the time being. Cars have not been returned as fast as railroad officials expected. While they have received more box cars from eastern and southern connections in the last week, they have also suffered heavy losses. One railroad reported having received 1,200 box cars since May 25, all of which have rapidly disappeared. Another has received 800 cars, most of which have been lost through loadings in various directions.

Car Outlook Poor.

The cars are constantly receiving loaded cars from other sources, but the supply is largely short, and although a large volume of freight cars are being moved, the outlook for the future is not bright. One road is short 1,000 box cars on its grain orders and reports from all roads show no perceptible increase in grain loadings. Country shippers are in many instances reporting box cars to enable them to move their grain. July corn closed Saturday at $1.81 and September at $1.71, showing net gains of 94/100¢. Prices for the week follow:

	July	September
Wheat	1.70-1.71	1.63-1.64

Export Market Fair.

A moderate export business was done in wheat in all positions last week, although bidding was not spirited and offerings were scattered, mainly in small lots. The market was quiet, with a few sales of wheat and wheat products to arrive from the country were at $2.00-2.25 for August and $1.90-2.00 for September shipment with a slight increase in the offerings. The image shows a close-up of a dark, textured surface, likely the cover or endpaper of an old book. A horizontal band of lighter, mottled material runs across the upper portion of the frame. This band has a grainy texture and is marked with several small, dark, irregular spots and smudges, suggesting age and wear. A faint, illegible mark or stamp is visible within this lighter band. The lower portion of the image is a solid, dark, and highly textured area, possibly the book's binding or a different material. The overall appearance is aged and worn.

LONDON STOCKS RALLY STRONGLY IN MIDWEEK

By MANFRED EMANUEL.

(Chicago Tribune Foreign News Service.)

(By Special Cable.)

LONDON, June 20.—The unexpected rally in the stock market closed in an atmosphere of greater cheerfulness than has been the case for many weeks past.

The opening, however, was not so cheerful. Paris began the week with a considerable fall in the final adjustment of the difficulties at the end of May. Oil shares and those of South Africa and diamonds continued to suffer.

Then came the reduction of the cable transfer charges from 8 1/2 per cent to 6 1/2, which in effect saved producing countries a shilling and a penny to 2 shillings for every ounce of gold produced.

Improves in Midweek.

With the Paris trouble over the market on Wednesday was ripe for improvement. Midweek trading was brisk. This was due to advance knowledge of the midsummer dividends and to the reduced premium of gold.

Thursday saw the Bank of England rate unaltered and the optimists again were talking of reductions in the money rate with rising temperature.

Friday was a day of consolidation. The market was fairly strong, but the volume of business had expanded.

Market Still Sensitive.

Until to remain sensitive. There is little real hope of expansion until confidence in the government finances is restored. That depends on the turn taken in the budget debate, which again has been postponed.

Financial circles are conjecturing as to the probable rate of the excess profits tax. It is felt that if the amount reaches 60 per cent the opposition will be so strong that the measure will be accompanied by a promise of early reduction. Meanwhile industry and commerce are adopting a waiting policy and the stock market is doing the same.

Sugar Company to Show Earnings of $2,000,000

New York, June 20.—[Special.]—The Guarantano Sugar Company is expected to show earnings for the year ending Sept. 30, 1920, of about $2,000,000, according to a survey made by the department of agriculture. At this price the department says, half the farmers would have lost money. The government guaranteed price was $2.25. The survey included a compilation of statistics from 481 farms. Nine representative winter wheat areas in Kansas, Nebraska and Missouri and five areas in the states of Minnesota, North Dakota, and South Dakota were visited. For winter wheat 284 records were taken and for spring wheat 197. On just two farms out of the 481 the cost was as low as $1 a bushel. On twenty farms it was $4 or over. There was one farm in the winter wheat area where the cost reached $4.20. The average cost of producing winter wheat was $1.87. In the spring wheat areas the average cost was $2.65.
